MME. JANAUSCHEK.

MME. JANAUSCHEK.

Mme. Francesca Romana Magdalena Janauschek, the great Bohemian actress, was born in Prague, Bohemia, about 1830. She developed musical talent at an early age, and received piano lessons from Herr Stegmeyer. She was preparing for a professional debut at the age of thirteen, when she cut one of her hands so severely that she was unable to use it for over a year. This secident, of course, put an end to all her prospects of becoming a professional pianist, but as she possessed a mezzo-soprano voice of coniderable promise, she began to study for the operatic stage at the Prague Conservatory. Baudius, a celebrated actor of his day, gave her private lessons and brought her out at the Royal Theatre of Prague in a comedy, called "Ich Bleibe Ledig." She was sixteen years of age when she made her debut.

Her success on the American stage determined her to study English, and she began her performances in that language during the performances of Lady Macbeth of Walter Montgomery attracted general attention, and in that role her acting was recognized as being great. She also met especial favor with American audiences in the dual role of Lady Dedlock and Hortense, in "Bleak House." Her characterization of Meg Merrilles was also quite popular. Among her other successes in Enggish performances were: "Winter's Tale." "Henry VIII," "Marle Antoinette," "Woman in Red," "Adrienne Lecouvreur" and "Mother and Son."

She was advanced so rapidly that at the age of eighteen she was eagaged as the leading actress of the Stadt Theatre, Frankfort, and remained there for ten years, playing a round of classic dramas. During vacations and whenever she was able to obtain leave of absence she would go on starring tours through Geramny, Austria and Russia.

Russia.

She was in the early thirties when she left the Frankfort Theatre, and, as her fame had spread throughout Germany, she traveled for several years as a star before she was engaged as the leading actress of the Court Theatre, in Dresden. At that time she acted great tragic roles, such as Medea, Iphigenia, Marie Stuart and Lady Macbeth, in which she was considered to have no equal in Germany.

she was considered to have no equal in Commany.

After she left Dresden Mme Janauschek came to this country with her own company, and on Oct. 9, 1867, Max Maretzek presented her, under his direction, at the Academy of Music, New York City, her opening vehicle being "Medea," which she played in German. Mr. Maretzek then took her on a tour of the United States, her repertoire including "Medea," "Marie Stuart," Deborah," "Gretchen," "Clairchen in Egmont," "Don Carlos," "Cabale und Liebe," "Braut von

Her retirement from the stage was announced in 1891, but the next year she appeared in "The Harvest Home." The production proved a fallure. Several years later she appeared in "The Great Diamond Robbery," interpreting the character of a typical East side "fence" keeper, and her last appearances in that play were made in 1895-96. Later she went on the vaudeville stage for a brief engagement, presenting a sketch.

On July 18, 1900, she suffered a stroke of paralysis. At the time she was first stricken she went to St. Mary's Hospital, in New York, remaining there until December, 1900, and then went to live at the home of Mrs. Aston, in Saratoga, N. Y., under the care of Dr. James E. Kelley, of that place. A benefit performance at Wallack's Theatre, in which many prominent actors and actresses took part, on April 12, 1901, netted $5,000 for her. In October, 1903, she decided to sell her effects, consisting of costumes she had worn in her former productions. Then a relief fund was started for her, and later the Actor's Fund induced her to go to its home on Staten Island.

ACTORS' FUND CLAIM MRS. M. A.

PENNOYER'S BEQUEST.

Representatives of the Actors' Fund of America, which has maintained a home at Staten Island for ten years, appeared before Judge Grant, in the Probate Court, Boston, on Dec. 10, to press the claims of that organization to a legacy left by Martha Brizse, a famous war-time actress, whose stage name was Mrs. M. A. Pennoyer.

Mrs. Brizse died in Dorchester, Mass., two years ago. In her will she dictated that a portion of the estate should be given to "The Dramatic Fund of America for the purpose of their home for poor, infirm and aged members of the dramatic profession, now maintained by said Fund."

It appears that at that time there was no such organization as the Dramatic Fund of America, although there had been a corporation known as the American Dramatic Fund Association. This organization, however, had association. U. B. U.

The United Booking Office, following the progressive policy of B. F. Keith and his general manager, E. F. Albee, announces the inauguration of a Production Department, under the direction of Phil F. Nash. This department will produce vaudeville acts of every kind. Specialists will be engaged to stage the various forms of variety. As on the legitimate stage, professional producers will be engaged to "put on" sketches, spectacles, dances and tabloid dramas. The leading senie and costume studios will be called upon for their finest products, and in every detail the productions made by the United Booking Office will be in proportion as expensive and as artistic and as strongly cast as the greatest offerings of the foremost legitimate producers.

Mr. Nash, the director of the new Producing Department, asks that authors send him sketches, scenarios, playlets and ideas for acts of all kinds. Performers having acts in mind will be advised and assisted in putting them in shape for vaudeville presentation. New acts which are offered the United Booking Offices will be given the best professional advice on staging them. The trend at all times will be toward comedy and the spectacular. Authors, players, musicians, dancers, entertainers of any and all kinds, who aspire to vaudeville, will find at the Production Department of the United Booking Offices encouragement and advice. New acts will not be allowed to fall for want of being told what the public and the powers of vaudeville cesie. This organization, however, had never maintained a home for actors, and had been dissolved by order of the New York courts some time prior to the death of the testatrix, its affairs having been entirely settled up for more than twenty years.

The representatives of the Actors' Fund of America now desire to present evidence to show that the former actress clearly meant their organization when she made her will.

Jeanette Dupre and Jess Feber started their engagement at the Empire Palace, Johannesburg, South Africa. Nov. 4, topping the bill, to a tremendous hit. David Belasco scored another big triumph in Philadelphia, 12, when the first American production of "A Good Little Devil" took place at the Broad Street Theatre. The play, which is of the "Peter Pan" variety, was lavishly praised by the press and public. The adaptation from the French of Rosemonde Gerard and Maurice Rostand, is by Austin Strong, and all of the Belasco skill is seen in the splendor of the production. The cast is an admirable one, and consists of William Norris. Ernest Truex, Mary Pickford, Edward Connelly, Etlenne Girardot, Ernest Lawford, Wilda Bennett, Henry Stanford, Jeanne Towler, Arthur Ilill and Robert Vivian. # FROHMAN.

BLANCHE BATES SIGNS WITH

Charles Frohman last week exchanged contracts with Blanche Bates.

Miss Bates' contract with Mr. Frohman will extend over a period of five years, and is understood to commence next September. But there is a possibility that Mr. Frohman may present Miss Bates in New York in a special program in March.

It was under Mr. Frohman's management that Blanche Bates first became a star, and continued so until she withdrew to David Belasco's management.

continued so until she withdrew to David Belasco's management.

An interesting plan contained in Mr. Frohman's arrangements for Miss Bates is her appearance in a theatrical scheme that will include the leading players under Mr. Frohman's management. This may be effected during the present year.

In addition to the above clauses Miss Bates' contract calls for her appearance in a new play each season.

MABEL AND EDITH JOINT STARS.

Next season Mabel Taliaferro and her sister, Edith, will star jointly under the management of Joseph Brooks. They will be seen early in September in New York, in a drama now being written for them by a well known now being written for them by a well known author.

It is interesting to note that there has not been a starring tour of sisters since the days of the Bateman Sisters, in society dramas, in the '70s, and prior to that were the appearances of the Webb Sisters and Lucille and Helen Western. There have been many sisters appearing together in vaudeville, but none on the legitimate stage.

In connection with one of the final appearances of the Bateman Sisters, at Brighton, England, in 1880, Mr. Brooks, under whose management the Taliaferro Sisters now appear, was present, and engaged a member of the Bateman company, Robert Mantell, and brought him to America, where he made his first appearance in "The Romany Rye," at Booth's Theatre.

FORBES-ROBERTSON.

English playgoers continue to show their admiration and enthusiasm for Mr. Forbes-Robertson, by a series of demonstrations which have few parellels in the history of the stage. On leaving Liverpool the popular actor was greeted with cheers, laurels and general expressions of regret, while Manchester proved no less pordigal of its manifestations. His week's receipts have consistently totalled over $10,000 in all the large cities, while in no instance has the supply of seats been equal to the demand. Within the next few days Mr. Robertson hopes to complete arrangements for a Spring season at one of the West End theatres in London.

ANOTHER "ROSE MAID" CO.

Werba & Luescher placed the "Central" company of "The Rose Maid" in rehearsal at the New York Theatre, last week. The company will tour the Central States, opening its season on Christmas Day. BERNHARDT BRIDE'S ATTENDANT

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.

With Mme. Sarah Bernhardt acting as matron of honor, Beatrice Plelss, of St. Paul, to-day became the bride of Edward J. Sullivan, manager of the American tour of Bernhardt. The ceremony was performed at St. Mary's Catholic Church by the Rev. James N. Scanlan, a personal friend of the bridegroom. The Rev. Father P. J. O'Callaghan assisted in the services, Wm. F. Connor, an associate of Mr. Sullivan, acted as best man. The marriage was the culmination of a romance in which Bernhardt played the leading role. While touring the country as Bernhardt's manager two years ago Mr. Sullivan became acquainted with his bride in St. Paul, where the company was playing. The theatrical man on leaving the Twin City corresponded with Miss Pleiss. Their engagement was announced a few weeks ago.

"Bernhardt certainly played the role of Cupid as well as she ever played any part in her career." said the bride to-day. "When I met Mr. Sullivan, the great actress immediately noticed the attachment that had formed, and encouraged both of us."

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Congress Hotel. The couple will spend their honeymoon on tour with Bernhardt.

Among those who witnessed the ceremony were: Mme. Seynor, M. Tellegen, Dr. Marot, Bernhardt's physician; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mercanpon, Helen Ormsby and Mrs. W. F. Watrous, of St. Paul, cousin of the bride.

HADDON CHAMBERS HERE.

Hadoon Chambers, the English playwright, arrived here Monday, Dec. 9.

Mr. Chambers did not bring a play with him, but remarked that he had a play about half finished.

In an interview he said, among other things: "A part of my object in coming over now was to evade to some extent the depressing influence of the Christmas holidays. I cannot conceive of any more melancholy thing than that of seeing persons looking longingly into shop windows at merchandise they cannot afford to buy. I shall start back either just before or soon after Christmas, and go straight through to Nice, for the Winter."

DOUGHERTY BENEFIT.

The benefit to Hughey Dougherty, at the Forrest Theatre, Philadelphia, on the afternoon of Dec. 12, was a huge success. There was a four hour bill contributed by representatives from nearly every attraction in town, and although all of the receipts are not yet ascertainable, there will surely be a sum in excess of $3,000 for the veteran minstrel. Those who contributed their services were: Digby Bell. Tom Waters, Montemery and Moore, Sophia Barnard, Lou Anger, Charles Dooin, James McCool, Ethel Whitesides, Leon Rogee, Armstrong and Ford, the Monte Carlo Burlesquers, Babe La Tour and Will McKinley.

"SUN DODGERS" REORGANIZE.

SELIG NOTES.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON IN FILM.

The famous Selig child actress, "Baby" Lillian Wade, and Sir Thomas Lipton, the world famous yachtsman, joined forces Nov. 27, and did a "turn" together which was duly recorded on a Selig film.

Sir Thomas is an enthusiastic admirer of moving pictures, and proved his devotion to this art by consenting to play a role in a Selig photoplay in which "Baby" Lillian appears. A toy yacht figures in the story, and Sir Thomas is seen teaching the children to sall it. The rugged, stalwart Irish lord, 6 feet 3 inches tall, and dainty blonde little four-year-old Lillian, form a fascinating contrast as they romp together before the camera on one of the most beautiful lawns of Pasadena, Cal., the "millienaires" suburb" of Los Angeles.

dena, Cal., the "millienaires' suburb" of Los Angeles.

The great international yachtsman is an actor of real ability. When Director Parker, zealous to conserve Sir Thomas' valuable time and inconvenience him as little as possible, prepared to take the first scene after a verbal rehearsal of the action. Sir Thomas raised a protesting hand. With a delightful touch of Irish brogue, which it is impossible to do justice to on the printed page, he said: "Now, then, let's take things easy. I believe that anything that's worth doing at all is worth doing right. I want you to rehearse me several times on this scene before you start the crank." And forthwith Sir Thomas began to practice his entrance on the green-sward "stage" and his initial meeting with the little sweetheart of the story.

This adds one more scoop to that progressive house of Selig, as this is the first time Sir Thomas has consented to be photographed by the motion pleture camera. No release date has yet been set on this feature.

The sensational crux of Selig's thrilling railroad drama "The False Order," which will be released on Jan. 9, shows a realistic head-on collision between two glant locomotives. This effect heavily discounts any stage device ever materialized to thrill an andience. In order to secure this one scene the Selig Co. sent a company of competent players and several camera men to Kalamazoo, Mich., last Fall, where the collision was staged. The story deals with the romance of an engineer. William Stowell and Winnifred Greenwood play the principal roles; Oscar Eagle made the production.

In the Selig release of Dec. 24, entitled "Roderick's Ride," one of the most thrilling and sensational rides ever caught by the camera is shown in all its vivid reality. The rider is a small lad of thirteen years, named Roderick McKenzle, who has become famous throughout Colorado for his daring. The action of the story leads up to a point where it is imperative for medicine to be secured from a drug store twenty miles away. The boy makes the store and is back inside of two hours and thirteen minutes. This time has been made by young McKenzle upon several occasions, and on the day that the picture was taken he accomplished the feat in this

"Balkan War Ptetures."

The Kinemacolor Company showed five mels of the Balkan war pictures at their last exhibition, and although no views of actual fighting was caught by the Kinema-mior camera man, he managed to crank out as abundance of interesting film, which, with the natural coloring of the soldiers' uniforms, sided materially to pictures' strength. Otherwise five reels of such subjects would be tery tiresome.

Tise five reels of such subjects would be very tiresome. The pictures deal for the most part with the transporting of the march of the soldiers to the field of battle, but there are other interesting views of feeding time of the Balkan officers, street scenes at Stara Gazora, mowing the quaint dwellings of the natives, and a group of British war correspondents collecting the movements for their editions. The camera was expertly handled from the beginning to the end of these pictures, and the picturesque background stretches greatly relieve the eye from becoming wearied ever the endless march of the soldiers.

The camera takes you on a delightful burney through fanciful little villages, past vayside inns, along the River Thames and past flower decked locks, and views of nu abrous vine covered little flat cottages make the Sunday trip an exquisitely picturesque and peaceful one. On the same reel is "No Place for a Minister's Son."

"A Christmas Spirit," Kinemacolor.

A very interesting drama, well produced and acted.

The story begins with a young mother hiding the "presents" for her two little ones until Christmas time. She is taken ill and dies, and the husband, heartbroken, neglects the coming of Santa Claus on Christmas Eve, and not knowing of the toys previously hidden by his wife, he pictures a disappointment for his bables.

After being put to bed by the nurse the kiddles arise and make their way to the big open fireplace where they hang their stockings.

The spirit of the dead wife appears, takes the toys from their hiding place and, after filling the stockings, vanishes.

Christmas morning finds the children rejoicing with "Santa's" gifts, while the husband sits in wonderment as to where the presents came from and who it was that did not forget.

Linder Griffith and Charles Perley did good work in the elder roles, while the kid roles were exceptionally well acted by Georgia and Parker Oliver. A very interesting drama, well produced and acted.

or the outlaws, as the man with a price on his head.

Rogers suggests that Jim join his band, and later, by a clever ruse, Jim draws the outlaw away from the men, takes him prisoner and, after a thrilling descent from a cilff overhanging the cabin in which Dolly is held, he rescues her and manages to hold the pursuing band off until Dolly returns with a posse. Jim is, of course, rewarded with Dolly's hand in wedlock.

William Duncan plays the hero role admirably. His descent by rope over a cliff, with the ascent relying on the horse, to whose saddle the rope is tied, gives an extremely strong thrill to the rescue scene. Myrtle Stedman did her work well, while the part of the outlaw leader was realistically portrayed by Lester Cuneo.

TO REGULATE M. P. HOUSES.

The incoming session of the legislature at Albany, N. Y., will be of more than passing interest to amusement purveyors. Besides an effort which will be made for the repeal of the Agency Law there will be an endeavor made to pass a law which will cover the motion picture shows and theatres. The rapid growth of the motion picture business has made it almost impossible to enect laws that, while they might cover the "stimation when passed, six months later, owing to changed conditions because of the rapid progress made in this end of the amusement business, they would be of no effect. changed conditions because of the rapid progress made in this end of the amusement business, they would be of no effect. For this reason legislation along this line has been deferred.

Now, however, the situation is different: The time has arrived when legislation seems called for to control the unscrupulous manager and protect his patrons.

Senator A. J. Griffin and Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier have prepared a bill which they will jointly introduce.

The bill provides:

Special hours on school days, Saturdays and Sundays when children will be admitted to picture shows unaccompanied.

Segregation for such unaccompanied children in the moving picture theatre.

Matrons to be appointed by the authorities licensing the shows and paid by the exhibitors, to watch over the unaccompanied children while they are in the house.

The proposed bill is as follows:

A person who

Admits to or allows to remain in any dance house, concert saloon, theatre, museum, skating rink, kinetoscope or moving picture performance, or in any place where wines or spirituous or mait liquors are sold or given away, or in any place of catercainment injurious to health or morals, owned, kept, leased, managed or controlled by him or his employer, or where such services as doorkeeper, or ticket seller or ticket collector, any child actually or apparently under the age of sixteen years, unless accompanied by its parents or lawful guardian, except that any child under the age of sixteen years may be admitted to a moving picture performance or theatre, without a parent or guardian on week days, except Saturday, Sunday and holidays, between the hours of 1 P. THE LEAGUE'S PURPOSE.

THE LEAGUE'S PURPOSE.

President M. A. Neff is quoted as to the purpose of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League:

"The thing that we most desire as motion picture exhibitors is a thorough, honest understanding with those with whom we have commercial and other dealings; the most priceless blessing for which we contend and seek is harmony, co-operation and a square deal. We extend a hand of good fellowship to all, asking for nothing, only that which rightfully belongs to us, co-operating that all may be benefited and receive that which we are commercially entitled to.

"We are doing millions of doilars worth of business a year, a great army of people are engaged in our line of business, and as the days go by our trade relations become more entwined with our other relations in the commercial world, binding us closer together, and only through co-operation and organization can we stimulate sentiment in favor of the motion picture and bring about a condition that will be just, honest, fair and profitable to all concerned. There is not only a potential influence of mutual gain to be derived from a thorough organization for ourselves, but for every manufacturer, film man and all others with whom we have business relations.

"We believe that we are justified in thinking that we are worthy of a commercial turer, film man and all others with whom we have business relations.

"We believe that we are justified in thinking that we are worthy of a commercial place upon the map, and we believe that we, as exhibitors, should not be forgotten in the great commercial world, a line of business that employs over 200,000 people, directly and indirectly—over half a million—and does a business of over $500,000 a year, should be recognized as a potential factor in the calculations of every State in the Union.

"We believe in the uplift of chematography, we believe that the councils and legislatures of every State should protect our interests the same as other commercial interests; we believe that the scheming politician should not be allowed to interfere with our individual rights; we believe that no man should be employed to operate a motion picture machine unless he is competent; we believe in giving the public every safeguard possible; we believe that every exhibitor should conduct his theatre in a pleasant, efficient manner, always looking to the comfort and welfare of the patrons; we urge and demand that all members of our organization conduct their theatres on the highest plane, and that where a certificate of numbership is hung that it is a guarantee to the public that nothing will be shown that is suggestive or immoral, and that the proprietor is working to place cinematography on the very highest plane."

CHILDREN AT THE MOVIES.

CHILDREN AT THE MOVIES.

A cable dispatch from Berlin, Germany, announces that the Police Department of that city is about to take steps to protect children who visit motion picture shows. New police regulations are contemplated by which it will not be legal to admit any child under the age of sixteen years, either accompanied or unaccompanied by older persons, to any performance not specially arranged for children. By this means, it is thought, the motion picture house managers will give regular daily shows especially for children, all of which will have to have the sanction of the censor before shown.

The educational authorities have instructed the managers of motion picture houses that they will gladly aid in making their houses popular with the children provided they give such performances, educational and instructive, as will improve and not injure the youthful mind.

ANSWERS EVENING PAPER.

RESOLUTIONS BY EXHIBITORS' ASSOCIATION OF GREATER NEW YORK.

The following resolutions were drawn up by the committee appointed by President Trigger, and shown to the editor of the evening paper which has been criticising the motion picture theatre managers, who told the committee he had no idea such an association existed, and that he would do all in his power to further their aims:

"Whereas a great deal has been said and published which places the motion picture exhibitor in an unfavorable light toward the community, and

"Whereas, the commercial system in the moving picture business is such that the exhibitor is not responsible for the instances which have been cited against him, and

"Whereas, the object of this association is to place the business of exhibiting motion pictures on such a plane that it will command the unanimous approbation of the community, and

"Whereas, there are no existing laws or

Furthermore, the committee went on to say that they are strongly in favor of improving the business in all ways, and that they are not responsible for the flashy posters and lithographs which are furnished by the film manufacturers.

M. P. EXHIBITORS' LEAGUE.

M. P. EXHIBITORS' LEAGUE.

There will be big doings in Ohio on Tuesday, Jan. 21, and Wednesday, Jan. 22, 1913. The Ohio State Branch No. 1, of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, will hold its annual convention at Columbus, O. New officers will be elected, committees appointed, etc.

At the same time the Ohio State Convention meets the national vice presidents from thirty-three States will meet in Columbus. The Ohio State Convention will be very interesting, as the State Legislature will be insession and the new governor, Hon. James M. Cox, will then be at the helm, and there are several bills which will affect the members of the State League of Ohio which will be introduced at the coming session of the Legislature, naturally there is a great deal of interest being taken in the coming convention. The attorney general is also very active and at that time will be working in conjunction with Senator Fornker's office and Hon. J. J. Lent's office in developments of legal points which will be left for the courts to decide.

The National vice-presidents will have a number of important matters to discuss and take care of. M. A. Neff, president of the Ohio State League, who has just returned from an extended and successful trip through the West, was in Columbus in consultation with Attorney-General Hogan, and also arranging for the State convention.

THE SAGE FOUNDATION.

A model projection hall is planned for the first floor of the new nine story building being erected by the Russell Sage Foundation, at Twenty-third Street and Lexington Avenue, New York City. This building will be occupied within about ten months by the various departments of the Russell Sage Foundation, of which departments several have already expressed a practical interest in the educational use of motion pictures. The newly organized Department of Surveys and Exnitits, under the direction of Shelby M. Harrison and E. G. Routzahn, is co-operaing with the architects in planning the arrangement and equipment of two halls, a small auditorium and an exhibition hall.

TEMPLE SAILS.

Edward Temple salled Dec. 14 on the Kron-prinzessin Cecilie for London, to represent A. H. Woods at the first presentation of Max Rhienhardt's magnificent spectacle, "The Miracle," at Covent Garden. Mr. Temple will return immediately with all films, which will be shown in New York for the first time in this country on Jan. 16.

Magistrate Appleton, of the Morrisania Court New York, discharged Sylvester Pyser, who had been summoned for displaying an objectionable poster in front of his moving picture theatre. Pyser showed that the poster was a reproduction of an actual scene na film, which had been passed by the National Loard of Censors.

J. Pearce is altering the Story Building, at Canal Street, between Camp and St. Charley streets, into a first class moving picture theatre, with all the latest improvements. The house will seat nearly 900, and is 35 feet wide and 235 feet long.

The Wilfrank Amusement Co. has been incorporated by Wm. Franklin, Adolph Wolf and Fannie Franklin.

IN KINEMACOLOR.

The Kinemaçolor Co. of America has secured the Carnegie Lyceum, New York for a period of several months, to exhibit the natural color motion picture series, "The Making of the Panama Canal," which will have its premiere presentation in New York on Monday evening, Dec. 30.

The greatest engineering feat of any age will soon be obscured from view by the entry of waters into the canal. Even now much of the waterway has been flooded, but as the Kinemacolor experts have been at work in the Canal Zone making these pictures for a period of many months, they have secured a most comprehensive series of views.

Lawrence Grant, who created much attention while giving a chat explanatory of the Coronation and Durbar series, will speak in connection with this presentation. His knowledge of Panama is extensive, and the spectacular pictures have been much enhanced during the preliminary road tour by his efforts.

spectacular pictures have been much enhanced during the preliminary road tour by his efforts.

The entire history of the canal has been followed. Scenes show the work completed by the old French company under Ferdinand de Lesseps, and carry the spectator through every phase of the great work now so near accomplishment. The operations on Culebra Cut are treated in detail, as are the building of the great locks and dams at Miraflores, Gatun and Mindl.

The wonderful machinery invented specially for the undertaking comes in for its share of attention. Mighty dipper dredges that garner ten tons of rock and sand at a single scoop, steam shovels doing the work of five hundred men at a thrust, and electric drills eating through solid rock as if it were butter are all shown in the color pictures. A big hill is blown up in an instant by the explosion of sixty-five tons of dynamite, and the mountains of concrete comparable only to the Pyramids are shown during erection. Graphically and forcefully the color-films lay bare this wonder of wonders—showing the mighty steam shovels, each of which scoops tons of stone from the giant ditch at one assault, the drilling and dredging of the cut, the hydraulic attacks by which mountain sides are swept away, the gigantic stone crushers, cement mixers and a multiplicity of novel machinery which man's ingenuity has brought into being for this gigantic undertaking.

No detail of the gigantic work has escaped crushers, cement mixers and a multiplicity of novel machinery which man's ingenuity has brought into being for this gigantic undertaking.

No detail of the gigantic work has escaped the Kinemacolor experts, and to witness the exhibition gives a much better idea of the undertaking in its entirety than could be gained by an actual visit to the Canal Zone at Panama. In the color films you are shown dredges excavating huge masses of earth, suction drills that bore into the soil and automatically remove the earth as it is loosened, the pouring of concrete between the vast guide walls and the blasting away of a mountain in one single explosion. Then there is the construction of the lock gates, and, possibly most striking of all, the swinging open of the first gate in the canal. It is not only as the portrayal of a great engineering undertaking from its purely mechanical aspect that these pictures make their appeal; they have possibly a deeper significance in that they record a wonderful feat of human skill and patience, and reproduce at the same time an event of great historic and political importance.

The splendid series of pictures are so bewildering in their variety as to baffie description. Reproduced in the actual colors of nature, they convey an idea of the infinite magnitude of the undertaking such as no words could realize, and leave the spectator amazed and fascinated, not by the actual work alone, but in almost equal degree by the skill and enterprise shown by the Kinemacolor experts who produced the films.

The greatest engineering feat of any age has been perpetuated for future generations in this series of Kinemacolor, which in its way is as great as the Panama Canal. No verbal description of what has been accomplished could pessibly create the profound impression which these pictures, by their vividness and perfect coloring, produce on the mind of the spectator.

DYER RESIGNS.

The following announcement, sent out by Thomas A. Edison Co., is self-explanatory:

"We beg to notify you that Frank L. Dyer has resigned the presidency of this company, being superseded by Thomas A. Edison. Mr. Dyer, besides having the executive management of this and other Edison companies, had other interests which demanded part of his time. These interests have grown so extensively of late that he felt for some time that he was unable to do full justice to the multitudinous duties which his various connections involved, and as a duty to himself, Mr. Edison, and to the interests to which he was connected, decided that he must curtall his enormous responsibilities. After reflection he came to the conclusion that he would withdraw from the Edison companies, and therefore tendered his resignation to Mr. Edison, who acepted it with regret.

"The details of the business of this company at Orange have been in the hands of C. H. Wilson, as general manager, for some years, and he will retain this position, and in addition has been made vice-president of the compeny. No other changes of officials or personnel will be made. Thomas A. Edi-

HOCHSTETTER'S PICTURES.

At Carnegle Hall, on Friday evening, Dec. 13, the Hochstetter version of John Bunyon's life and his famous allegory, "Pigrim's Progress," were shown to a good sized audience. A novel feature of this exhibition comprises the interpretation of the pictures by the Russian Symphony Orchestra, under the able leadership of Modest Altschuler. Mr. Altschuler has spent some time in adapting the music to the pictures, and the result is a most pleasing one. Another performance will be given at Carnegle Hall, Dec. 18, at which a large delegation of Elks will be present. This surprising feature has been well booked throughout America, and in the Spring will be shown at Albert Hall, London, for an extended run.

"PALACE OF FLAME."

The New York State rights to "The Palace of Flame" have been purchased by the Star Special Feature Film Exchange, Inc., and will be released the first part of January.

THE BACHELET MYSTERY.

THE BACHELET MYSTERY.

When the "Magic Kettle" was produced by John T. Whitfie'd some eight years ago, Joseph Yarrick was the demonstrator who first staged the act in America. From reports along Broadway, it is expected that Mr. Yarrick will have the honor of superintending the first American production of Mr. Whitfield's latest novelty, "The Bachele Mystery." This oct will open at the Palace Theatre, London, Eng., Jan. 20, and it is said that Mr. Yarrick will be held in reserve for the American presentation, which will doubtless take place within a few days after the London production.

This latest creation on the part of Mr. Whitfield is based upon the new law of physics recently discovered by an eminent American scientist named Emil Bachelet, and it is stated that in the upsetting of all the accepted scientific theories it is liable to prove the greatest sensation the vaudeville stage has ever seen.

There is a possibility that before opening in vaudeville Mr. Yarrick may play a number of lyceum and lecture dates, as Mr. Whitfield has had some flattering offers in these lines.

Deaths in the Profession

Richard Hyde.

Richard Hyde.

Richard Hyde, president of the Hyde & Behman Amusement Company, of Brooklyn, N. Y., died in Tucson, Aniz., Saturday evening, Dec. 14, at 9.30, in his sixty-fourthyear, after an illness of about seven months. Mr. Hyde suffered from heart trouble and asthma. He was apparently in good health on his return from Florida, last March, but contracted a severe cold, from which he never recovered, and went to Tucson the early part of November to regain his health. Mr. Hyde was born in Adams Street, Brooklyn, May 22, 1849. He attended Public School, No. 1, where he first became acquainted with L. C. Behman. As a young man he was a hat apprentice with J. H. Prentice, but the business did not suit him. In 1876 Mr. Hyde and Mr. Behman became allied as managers of a music hall, which was opened in Philadelphia during the Centennial. From there they went to Baltimore for about a year, after which they went to Brooklyn and leased the building now known as the Olympic Theatre, Adams Street, and on Saturday evening, May 19, 1877, opened the Brooklyn Volks Garden, which became at once the popular vaudeville theatre of Brooklyn.

They purchased the property in 1878 and enlarged and improved it from time to time until it soon became known as one of the best variety houses in the country.

They produced "Muldoon's Picnic," which was one of the best light pieces ever presented, and from which they netted a large sum of money. They also operated the Standard Theatre on Fulton Street, the site of which is now occupied by Abraham & Strauss as a department store.

In January, 1882, they bought the Grand Opera House.

In May, 1883, they bought the Grand Opera House.

In May, 1883, they purchased the interior of Booth's Theatre, which was then to be demodished, and with the material built the New Park Theatre, corner of Broadway and Thirty-fifth Street. New York City, new known as the Herald Square Theatre.

They purchased the Prospect Fair Grounds at Gravesend, L. I., in 1886, and having extended their holdings, laid out and built the race track now owned by the Brooklyn Jockey Club.

The following is the list of theatres owned and controlled by the Hyde & Behman Amusement Co., which Mr. Hyde owned, he having purchased the Behman interests in the Summer of 1911; Folly Theatre (built in 1901), Star Theatre (purchased in 1896), Gayety Theatre, Grand Opera House, Olympic Theatre, Garnd Opera House, Olympic Theatre, all in Brooklyn; Newark Theatre, Newark, N. J.; Gayety Theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa. (built in 1904), and Star and Garter Theatre, Chicago, Ili. (built in 1908).

William J. Hyde is vice president, and James R. Hyde, secretary and treasurer of the Hyde & Behman Amusement Co.

Mr. Hyde is survived by his widow and four children: William J. Hyde, James R. Hyde and William B. Hyde were with him at the end. Mr. Hyde's career is well known, having been actively engaged in the theatrical business in the city of Brooklyn for nearly forty years, surviving his partner, L. C. Behman, ten years.

Concerning the firm of Hyde & Behman, The CLIPPER of Dec. 10, 1881, said: "Messrs. Hyde & Behman are becoming so well known in the amusement world, and have so proven what can be accomplished by perseverance and a thorough knowledge of the business in which they are engaged, that a short sketch of their lives may prove interesting to our readers. Hichard Hyde, the senior member of the firm, was born in the city of Brooklyn, May 22, 1849. Louis C. Behman was also born in that city, June 4, 1855. They first entered business life together in 1875 in Philadelphia, where they opened a 'free-and easy,' them a popular form of amusement. About a year later they went to Baltimore, where they solourned for a twelvemonth, and on May 19, 1877, they opened the theatre in Brooklyn now occupied by them. James L. Kernan.

James L. Kernan, the veteran theatrical manager, died Dec. 14, at his home in Baltimore, Md., at the age of seventy-three. He was taken sick two days before his death with acute indigestion, which developed into pneumonia, and he became so ill that his married daughter, Mirs. George H. Thomas of New York, was sent for. Death took him as she was bending over him, siding the nurse.

James Lawrence Kernan was intimately connected with the theatrical history of Baltimore for more than forty years. He amassed a great fortune, and gave largely to the poor. He built and equipped the James Lawrence Kernan Hospital and Industrial School for Crippled Children, at Radner Park, one of the finest in the world and that institution will now get $340,000, in addition to what it already has.

Mr. Kernan began his theatrical career as a receiver for the old Central Gardens, which he bought and managed himself. This was destroyed by fire, and on its site was erected the Monumental Theatre, the home of burlesque in Baltimore for more than twenty-five years. Then he built the Maryland Theatre, where the highest class vaudeville bills are to be seen in Baltimore. He also built one of the largest and finest hotels in Raltimore, He was personally known to thousands of theatrical folk, and his death removes one of the grand old gentlemen in the profession.

He was the father of Joseph and Eugene Kernan, also well known in the theatrical world.

COLONIAL.

(SAM TAUBER, MGR.)

The second of what are termed "All Star Festival" weeks by the management here, was ushered in Monday, Dec. 16, with a program offered that would compare very favorably with any bill of the present season. Independent of Orchestra Leader Julius Lenzberg's two overtures, there are twelve acts of undoubted fine calibre and varied exselence.

cts of undoubted fine catibre and varied excelence.

The theatre held a capacity audience at the Monday matinee, when Lynch and Zeller gave the new show a fine start with their dub juggling specialty. These boys surely move the value of quick action in their work, and the applause came in plenty.

Zelda Sears, and her tatented little company, beld the headline position, and easily repeated their former success here, in Edgar Alan Woolf's sketch of life behind the scenes, antitled "The Wardrobe Woman." In the lit's character, Miss Sears does really the best work of her stage career. The lines and situations are broadly improbable, but one forgets this in the enjoyment of the little playlet.

Two performers, who seem to have a priscitly claim upon popularity with the patrons here, are Eddie Leonard and Maole Russell, in their artistic singing and dancing specialty. They each received a particularly strong welcome, and their act never went letter. There was some surprise manifested when Mr. Leonard appeared in white face, but he scored just as strongly as he ever did in "cork."

Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, in their despitable compeliation.

Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, in their delightful comedietta, "At the News Stand," in which there is a plenitude of sparkling comedy and bright songs and Rooney's expert dancing, was enjoyed as well as any act of the big bill.

There is nothing new that can be written regarding the perfect pantomime work of Joe Jackson in his struggles with the dilapidated bicycle. He had the audience simply rolling off their seats, but even this statement has appeared before in print, so what's the use.

Linden Beckwith, the talented vocalist and Linden Beckwith, the talented vocalist and entertainer, filled an important program position with her accustomed grace and finish. The word "finish" is particularly appropriate to the stage efforts of Miss Beckwith. She is a finished artiste.

Conroy and Le Maire have a funny line of cross-fre talk in their skit, "The New Physician." The law of contrast is a big asset with these two comedians. Physically they are direct opposites, and their methods in dialogue are as equally pronounced, and this lead the stage of their methods are successful their success as sure laughdialogue are as equally pronounced, and tells the story of their success as sure laugh-tells the story of their success as sure laugh-getters.

Gus Edwards' latest stage production, "Kid kabaret," employing over twenty male and female youngsters, who congregate in a swell mansion, at a dinner, while the owners are away, scored one of the big hits of the entire bill. The piece is finely staged, and the young actors put over some excellent song numbers.

young actors put over some excesses, more numbers.

Dorothy Kenton, looking, if possible, more youthful and even prettier than ever, almost made her banjo "talk," and brought her well deserved applause for a very pleasing number. McDevitt, Kelly and Irene Lucy kept the adlence in fine humor during their twenty minute skit, "The Piano Movers and the Actress." The plece has the distinct merit of originality, and the two comedians get the very best results from the funny lines and situations in which the piano figures to a great extent.

and situations in which the plano ligures a great extent.

The Four Athletas, programmed as "physically perfect acrobats," fulfil their billing to the letter. The Monday audience liked their expert acrobatic stunts, and they were applauded accordingly.

It was a late hour when the Bird Millman Trio, sensational experts on the light wire, came on in the closing position of the long bill. Nothing stronger in praise of this act can be said than that they held the audience in to the close of their last trick. Old Timer.

The company that Mr. Frohman gathered together to present this play is an excellent one. Olive Wyndham played the role of the young and loyal wife with much charm and tenderness, and Shelly Hull, as the young and ambitious husband, was splendid. The lines in his big scene were delivered without even the suggestion of ranting.

As the lazy, flashily dressed brother, Edwin Nicander had all of the slangy lines, and he got them over without once missing the bull's eye.

(GUS MCCUNE, MANAGER.)

GUS MCCUNE, MANAGER.)

A well balanced program, composed of six entirely new acts and four old standards, was presented Monday matinee, and met with instant approval by an audience that was most liberal in applause.

The following all were seen in new performances, and are reviewed in our New Acts columns: Dolly Dalnert, late of the Winter Garden, making her first appearance in vaudeville; Mike Bernard and Maurice Burkhardt, in ragtime and classies. Hufford and Chains, in a sketch, "The Colored Parson and the Minstrel Man;" William Burr and Daphne Hope, in a sketch, called "A Lady, a Lover and a Lamp;" the I've Martells, in a cycling novelty, and La Crandall, on the bounding wire. Among the regulars Bert Levy presented his novel offering, and as usual walked off with one of the biggest hits of the bill.

Lida McMillan, William Lamp and company was seen in that humorous one act farce, called "The Late Mr. Allen," and created roars of laughter during its whole

For the first three days of this week a program of the usual standard of this house was seen, and the attendance which was large extended every act a good reception.

Kennedy and Kramer, a man and woman in black face, offered a dancing and singing specialty. Both are capable dancers and have fairly good singing voices. They were one of the hits of the bill.

The Three Donalds, in posing and acrobatic stunts, made a fine appearance, all being attired in white tights. Their tricks, many of which are difficult ones, were all performed with ease and grace. Their performance would be a feature on any program.

Madeli and Corbley, musical artists, are a man and woman who have a very novel offering, and were big encore winners at the Monday evening show. The young woman is very versatile, appearing in several different characters during their specialty.

Grace De Mar, a handsome and shapely young woman, rendered three songs with a change of costume for each, and walked away with one of the hits of the show.

Burrowes Davis and company presented a sketch that was uninteresting and just barely managed to get over. The dancing of the youngest member was a big encore winner.

The Franklin Trio of three boys, in songs, are big favorites here, and duplicated the success extended them recently at this house. Chantrel, Schuyler and Green, in a sketch, a rather mixed-up affair, attained fairly good success.

We were very sorry that the "business" of the play compels Robert A. Wessel to dle so early in act two, for he is one of the best heavy men we have seen on the local stage in many years of theatregoing.

Ruth Gray as "Angel," was pretty, and played her role, a very long one, by the way, with genuine charm. She is young and fresh and is an actress of ability.

Much of the comedy of the piece was entrusted to Frank Battin, as Duncan, and May Tyrell, as Mrs. Duncan, who played the roles of an elderly and kind. Scotch couple, who gave Freckles a home, in excellent manner.

Wm. F. Canfield, as the generous hearted.

who gave Freekies a nome, in extension mer.

Wm. F. Canfield, as the generous hearted millionaire, gave a fine performance, and the other parts were in capable hands.

New Yorkers have heard for a long time that "Freekles" was one of the best shows of the kind on the road. Now that New York has seen it, the big town is not disappointed.

The attraction Christmas week at the Grand Opera House is "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," with Edith Taliaferro in the leading role.

(CHAS. FERGUSON, MGR.)

The incoming new shows of Mondays and Thursdays here never fail to attract capacity audiences. Early on Monday night, bec. 16, all seats were occupied, and there was a fringe of standees back of the orchestra seats who were looking with envious eyes upon those who were enjoying comfortable chairs while witnessing the new show.

The show was a fine one, and headline honors easily belonged to Victor's Musical Melange. M. Victor waved his baton over the twenty members of his band while they discoursed several operatic numbers and pa-

Melange, M. Victor waved his baton over the twenty members of his band while they discoursed several operatic numbers and patriotic airs. The act opened with an exterior view of a convent, and during the toiling of the vesper bells a young woman sang. "My Rosary," in the shadow of the convent doors, very effectively. This was followed by a troubadour number, with mandolins and guitars, and the young woman in a pleasing vocal solo. The finish by the band brought the act to a stirring finish, with the audience cheering, and the curtain was raised and lowered a dezen times.

Dorothy De Schelle, with a very capable young actor as her opposite, and an actress who was true to life as the typical boarding-house landlady, held the sketch position of the new bill. The woes of the disengaged and improverished actors received a clever portrayal in the hands of Miss De Schelle and her male support. There was a veln of comedy mingled with the supposed suffering of the distressed young couple, and the sketch scored quite a nice little hit.

Force and Williams reappeared in their musical and comedy skit, with its scene laid in a "tank" town. The man was good in a "rube" role, but the honors fell to the woman, who not only sang charmingly, to her own violin accompaniment, but gave clever imitations of musical instruments.

Annle Lehr, who is possessed of a pretty face, but whose vocal powers are weak, sang four songs fairly well.

Harry Leander rode all sorts of wheels, his carrying of a young woman while riding a single wheel being very meritorious. His step-climbing on the single wheel was clever. Honey Johnson told stories and sang songs in black face character very entertainingly. His stories were away from the usual material adopted by monologists, and his rendition of an cid time negro song was a musical treat.

The illustrated song number was entitled "Kentucky Days."

KEITH'S UNION SQUARE.

(ELMER F. ROGERS, MGR.)

There is a close race for first place honors down here this week, with James' Thornton, olga Peirova and the Three Dolce Sisters running neck and reck for the lead. It is as evenly a balanced bill as Manager Rogers has slipped over for approval in some time, but the Dolce Girls were out of the race in No. 2 position.

Leonard and Louie opened up the show in a hand to hand balancing act that won on its merits. (See New Acts column.)

Then the melodious Dolce girls romped on in nifty white satin suits, hats, etc., and before they had warbled half of their first song the audience were strong for this truly "pippin" act. Then a change of costume, and one of the girls started with Rossiter's "All Night Long" hit, and, joined at the chorus time by the other Dolces, they harmonized this number as it has seldom been harmonized, and when followed with that "You Can't Expect Kisses from Me," the girls just devoured the usual applause. Then another stunning change for their "Sweet and Low" number, which, sung, without the ald of the orchestra, displayed the full beauty of these girls' voices. "O-U-Circus Day" was their closing number, and what a bear they make of it! The Dolce girls have as good a taste for wardrobe as they have for somes, and are, and will be, great for some time to come.

Walter Le Roy and company, offering his "A Horse on Hogan" comedy, chased along to fine approval and laughs. Mr. Le Roy gets the meat out of the "Irisher" role, and is capably supported by an extremely well formed woman, whom he mistakes for a widow from whom he desires to buy a horse She in turn mistakes him for a "distinguished gentleman" she expects to wed, and the increasing confusion of their conversation greatly amuses.

Joe Hart presented another new act here Monday, and, billed as Three Wonderful Singers, the trio lived up to it by taking the house by storm. (See New Acts.)

Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher, as popular and funny as ever, were an enjoyable sweet riot in their laughable the act with a duet song, 'Before the Lights Were Lit,' with Mrs. Fisher accompanying on the plano of the renamed "Limit" hotel. Good all the way.

Leona Thurber and Harry Madison were given a nice welcome and won fresh laurels in "On a Shopping Tour," during which Harry takes the part of a saleslady, and Miss Thurber the costumer. They work up the abundance of good stuff that is visible throughout the act, while Madison's loose-jointed dancing and Miss Thurber's pleasing voice and good looks, make them a regular entertaining couple.

Versatile Madame Olga Petrova then came unto us, and with the tantalizing business she used singing "Oh, You Beautiful Doll," in comedy and tragedy, was delightful. Nuf sed. She imitated a cat and a parrot during another song, and both were amusingly good, while a bit of tragic acting under the spotlight showed her to be gifted with some of the emotional art also. And Madame Olga possesses a most wonderful variety of voices. She sang from contraito to the highest soprano with such feeling and case that many must have wished they had also sent a bouquet as gergeous as the one she received at the close of her last number.

James Thornton ambled to the middle of the stage but was unable to speak for several minutes owing to the prolonged applause. He made known how he appreciated the reception, and then cased over a real Jim Thornton motologue that held his audience in roars of aughter for about fifteen minutes. He sure can boast of being a favorite.

Ella Bradna and Fred Derrick closed the bill, and that they also were not forgotten was evidenced by the applause their stunts on the backs of their beautiful big horses drew forth. They grow more skillful daily, it seems, and the charm of Miss Bradna is pleasing to witness as the art both her and Mr. Derrick are leaders in.

HAMMERSTEIN'S.

(WM. HAMMERSTEIN, MGR.)

A large audience was present at the Mon-day matinee to watch Lillian Lorraine and Ching Ling Foo run neck and neck for first bandleader in reguiär Kelly style.

Grace Tyson and Arthur McWatters, in a "1912 Review." made the first real hit of the day, making many changes and giving many impersonations ranging from a serious recitation, a burlesque on "The Lilly." to a fast closing with "Hypnotic Rag."

The fast stuff put over by Wynne, of Wynne and Russon, was well liked.

Lillian Lorraine made her vandeville debut a most successful one. (See New Acts.)

Bert Lesile, in a vehicle entitled "Hogan, the Painter," put over several new and classy bits of American slang.

Herman Timberg was among the best liked on the bill. He pleased with his Yiddish son, his violin playing, and finished strong with a comedy dance.

Ching Ling Foo and his Chinese company offer a great program. No matter how often one may see the act, many tricks are quite bewildering. The last one, when he turns a somersault and comes up with a jar full of water and fish swimming in the water, is a

U. B. O. AND VAUDEVILLE.

While everything connected with the United Booking Offices may not be exactly what we would like, it is unfair and unreasonable to blame them for some things for which they are not responsible.

It has been stated that they do not pay as large salaries to vaudeville acts as they previously did, and that they are using their vast power to force players to reduce their prices. If they adopt unfair methods to bring about this condition, it would be wrong and would deserve the severest censure. But a calm consideration of this subject must bring us to the conclusion that the value of vaudeville acts, like all other commodities, is governed by the law of supply and demand. The vandeville actor wants the best price he can get, and the manager will pay only the lowest price he can get him for. The com-petition that has entered the vaudeville field is the real cause of the low prices paid for There are several houses giving "tryouts" to new acts, from which a large number are selected by booking agents and managers every week in New York City alone. This horde of new talent coming into a field already overcrowded with unemployed talent, must of necessity reduce salaries. It is so in every other branch of industry, and must apply to vaudeville. Then it must be remembered that the motion picture business has crowded out the straight vaudeville houses all over the country to such an extent that the demand for the old time vaudeville artist is materially lessened. It is true that the picture houses employ a large number of vaudeville acts, but they are mostly priced acts, and here is where most of the new talent gets a start. With these facts before us, we can see that the vaudeville business is not what it once was-without any comforting ray of hope that it will be better in the near future.

The great prosperity of vaudeville in its early days was an invitation to the competition which has now overtaken it. Whenever any venture is remarkably successful there is always somebody ready to butt in and get a share of it, until eventually it becomes While deploring these conditions, we ought to place the blame where it There are too many pegs properly belongs. and not enough holes.

With the news of the marriage, the information became public for the first time that the actor and Minnie Dorothy Pepper, a St. Louis heiress, were divorced last month. Hamilton's first wife also was an actress, known as Jane Oaker.

The marriage ceremony was performed in record-breaking time. An automobile with the actor, his flance, her mother, Mrs. Maude G. Tannehill; her sister, Murtel Tannehill, and Louise Stebbins, actress, drove up in front of the magistrate's home shortly before six o'clock.

The band have formed a conspiracy to kill Holt, and to prevent this and also to save her own life Margaret kills Alvarez. In order to keep in hiding, Margaret, through the intervention of John Howell, a newspaper reporter, enters into the service of Winthrop Clavering, an author and amateur detective, who writes stories for The Evening Journal, based on crimes committed in New York. ABOLISH PASSES IN PITTSBURGH.

ABOLISH PASSES IN PITTSBURGH.

Reports from Pittsburgh were current last week that the local daily newspaper publishers, wearying of what they call the theatre pass "graft," issued an edict on Dec. 13, abolishing passes, by agreement with the managers of city theatres.

Within the last year or two wealthy advertisers have been insisting upon their theatre perquisites to the extreme point of refusing to insert advertisements unless they received free tickets. The custom was started by a resourceful advertising manager a few years ngo, who gave a theatre box to every advertiser who took a page.

On Dec. 13 an agreement went into effect by which the papers will buy seats for their critics and theatres will pay for all "reading notices," excepting the Monday morning criticisms and the Sunday reviews, which will be classified as news.

SOTHERNS RENT HOME FOR WEEK. Some six years ego E. H. Sothern wanted a large room in Pittsburgh for a birthday party celebration, but none of the large hotels could or would accommodate him. He has been "sore" on the hotels over since, Therefore he has rented the home of W. D. Phelan, on Grand Boulevard, for Christmas week, as he and Mrs. Sothern (Julia Marlowe) play an engagement at the Alvin Theatre. They will entertain their Pittsburgh friends at the Phelan home during their stay in the Smoky City. Smoky City.

"The Unwritten Law" will open at the Cort Theatre, Chicago, in January.

CLOSES "CARNIVAL."

Grace George's play, "Carnival," which, according to the report has had a successful beginning in other cities, notably Toronto, where it was produced a month ago, was withdrawn from the stage after the performance at Poughkeepsie, in order that parts of it may be rewritten by its author, Compton MacKenzie. Miss George will appear in another comedy in January, and will return to "Carnival" in the Spring.

MANAGER TALLIS ARRIVES.

George Tallis, a member of the firm of J. C. Williamson, Ltd., of Australia, arrived in New York last week.

Mr. Tallis is one of the leading and best known theatrical managers of the Antipodes. This is his first visit to America in ten years, his purpose being to see many plays which his firm have acquired for Australia and New Zealand, and to confer personally with leading managements here. Mr. Tallis has just completed a six months' tour of all the principal European cities, and will make a complete trip over the American continent and sail from Vancouver, B. C., in January. Mr. Tallis desires especially to correct the false recent rumors to the effect that J. C. Williamson is in poor health, because he is glad to say, on the contrary, that Mr. Williamson is in the best of health, and just at the present time is enjoying a pleasure visit to Cairo, Egypt.

CON T. KENNEDY,

Whose genial likeness appears on the front page of this issue, is one of America's most successful showmen. For the past eleven years he has occupied the executive position of general manager of the C. W. Parker Carnival Enterprises. During this period he has accomplished much in the way of developing this branch of amusement business, has amassed an independent fortune for himself and has efficient those with whom he has been associated. The terrific opposition to carnival organizations, created by unscrupulous managers with debasing shows and uncensored shows, has had no effect on Con-T. Kennedy, whose very name is synonymous with releasing the same is synonymous with releasing the synonymous with releasing the credit of having eventually offered to the masses what many consider to be one of the most perfect organizations of its character in existence. He has a tremedous capacity for work, keen foresight, a grasp of detail, and to his executive ability the Parker Shows undoubtedly owe much of their phenomenal success. The carnival business is a "business" with C. T. Kennedy, and he handles it like a "Wanamaker" would conduct a big department store. He wastes no words and decides quickly the greatest problems.

Mr. Kennedy possesses an inspiring per-conduct a big department store. He wastes no words and decides quickly the greatest problems.

Mr. Kennedy possesses an inspiring personality which is felt by all who come in contact with him. He understands his people and they understand him. Nothing worries, vexes or fusses him. His word is law, he commands like a general, yet withal, so pleasantly and respectfully that it compels the admiration and devotion of his subordinates. Mr. Kennedy is charitable to a fault, kind hearted and generous, and not a few in the carnival field owe much of their success to his confidence in them and his generous support.

Under his direction the Great Parker Shows have furnished attractions for the big State fairs and expositions in the United States and Canada. He is constantly opening up new and productive territory, and other managers have profited through his remarkable foresight.

It is a pleasant duty to record at this time that C. T. Kennedy is to continue as general director of the Great Parker Shows in 1913.

FOX TO RETURN TO NEW YORK?

Rumor has it that at the close of the Zieg-feld "Follies," at the Moulin Rouge (New York Theatre), Wm. Fox will again become lessee of the house, and will once more present the Fox brand of vaudeville and pic-tures there.

AGGIE G. VARS AND HARRY E. CRAIG Spent

AGGIE G. VARS AND HARRY E. CRAIG spent their Thanksgiving down East in Providence (the former home of Miss Vars), where they participated in a real New England feast of Rhode Island bird. On their return to Wilmington, Del., where they now reside, Mr. and Mrs. Craig stopped over in New York on Dec. 2, to celebrate their first wedding anniversary, and were tendered a dinner at Guffanti's by their friends, in honor of the event. WM. M. VANCE (Ipc.) NOTES.—The Wm. M. Vance "Buster Brown" musical comedy, with twenty-six people, and the production complete in every detail, are now on the H. L. Walker Circuit, playing at $1.50 prices, and a $2 scale in Deadwood, S. Dak., Dec. 19, following the Black Hills trip. They return to Iowa via Chadron, Neb., and Sioux City, for January and February, then make a swing through Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, returning back into Iowa in May, through Arkansas and Missouri. Mr. Vance is paying the highest royalty on "Buster Brown" ever attempted on the one night stands, but managers all along the line have met him half way with guarantees and first money contracts. The Wm. M. Vance Stock Co. is continuing its great success at the beautiful Evanston Theatre, and is the first company to make a success in Evanston, which caters to the resident wealth of Chicago. "The Fortune Hunter," "The College Widow," and high royalty bills of this class test the capacity each week, and "Buster Brown" gave a 10 A. M. Saturday matinee and turned people away, with the house zold out at the regular night and matinee performances during the entire week. Edwin Patterson, well known through his connection with operatic attractions, has been engaged in the booking department.

Don C. Hall and sons, Don C. Jr. and Walter R., were among those who were admitted to membership in the Stevens Point, Wis., Lodge of Elks, a will go to Madison shortly before Christmas, to establish an office and arrange matters preparatory to the opening of the State Legislature, to which he was elected as Assemblymen from Portage County, at the recent election.

On Dec. 2 a contract was signed between H. L. Walker, amusement promoter and manager of Aberdeen's new theatre, and M. C. Kellogg, by which the latter was taken in as Mr. Walker's partner in the new theatre management in Aberdeen, and in the handling of the rapidly growing circuit of theatres in the Northwest territory which Mr. Walker handles, as far as bookings are concerned. Mr. Kellogg has been connected with Mr. Walker for the past five years, during the time he has been handling the Deadwood, the Wahpeton and the Lyceum theatres, at Fergus Falls, Minn.

W. A. Gaigo (Billy Single Grigg) states he has had a very successful engagement during the Fall season, and is now at his home in Jophin, Mo., where he has mining interests. Things theatrical in Jophin are on the boom. Two new houses just about completed. Mr. Grigg is working on another new play, to be finished soon. He says: "I remain here until after the holidays, then I have a starring engagement in a production of 'Oliver Twist,' doing the part of Fagin."

Among the players who have been engaged for the production of "The Man With Three Wives," under the management of the Shuberts, are Alice Yorkem, Charlotte Greenwood and Sydney Grant. It is probable that the name of this new Lehar opera will be changed, but no choice of a title has as yet been made. HARRY S. HOPPING mourns the loss of his father, Jas. A. Hopping, who died at his home in Indianapolis, Ind., Thanksgiving morning. He was well known to many of the profession. Harry Hopping has been confined to his bed the past three months with neuritis, and was unable to attend the funeral.

WILLIAM J. McQUINN informs us that he arrived in Toronto last week, after eighteen weeks of good business with "Circus Day With Miller Bros. & Arlington," In moving pictures. In all over seven After ten weeks Mr. Powel discharged Miss Stender. In her behalf, through her attorney, M. Strassman, suit has been brought in the City Court to recover $1,000 damages for the rest of the term of hiring.

She finished by singing "I wonder Why," with a few graceful dancing steps for good measure.

John Walton and company presented their sketch, wherein an escaped convict visits the house of the judge who has sentenced him to house of the judge who has sentenced him to house of the judge who has sentenced him to house fate he is greatly worried, has become the wife of the judge, and sees her while he is hiding behind the curtain. Marino and Wood, a tenor singer in Italian statue vender's make-up, and a basso in evening dress, have a thread of a plot for their act, but their singing is A1, from the operatic down to the ragtime duet, with "Time of Tide" and "Land of Golden Dreams" tendered as solos. They were heartly applicated.

The Makarenko Duo, Russian singers, showed fine character costumes and their singing was well liked. They fill in with some interesting small talk. "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" was offered by Mr. M. Will J. O'Hearn and company showed a pretty scenic set outside of a church and a lome. A scrap between the young Irishman and a scheming 'squire, who wishes to elope with the sister, ends well by the 'squire asking to be allowed to prove a worthy friend, after the elopement has been prevented by the appearance of the Mother Superior. Singing to three urchins was one of the features, and "Wild Irish Rose," sung by the four with a light tableau formed by the sister and her white pigeons, finished the act. Mr. O'Hearn somewhat exaggerated the impressive voice tonations when serious, and was more acceptable in his lighter vein.

Jerge and Hamilton, the tenor and the glrl, had the double song, "Come and Kiss Your Baby," with catchy business. They talked some. Miss Hamilton qualified as a dancer and high kicker. "The Trolley Car Rag" was well sung by both.

The Seven Byrne Prothers showed a part of the first act of "Eight Bells," with the trick houses, the walls, the trick horse and the trick carriage with lots of funny work, keeping the slapmaker busy and playing all sorts of tricks on the teachers.

The pictures were also well liked.

(BEN LEO, MGR.)

Comedy was the big feature in the program that was presented the latter part of ist week, every performance being attended by a capacity audience.

The Three Trobadours, in operatic selections, were a big success. The act is composed of two men and a woman, all of whom have excellent singing voices. Their performance with a better arrangement would bring them better results. The act is handsomely costumed.

them better results. The act is handsomely costumed.

Rosemer, Hillman and company, in a sketch about a circus rider, met with fairly good success. The story is interesting and the characters well portrayed, the whole perfermance holding attention throughout.

Jentes, Roth and White, two men and a woman, in songs and remarkable plano playing, cleaned up with one of the hits of the bill. Jentes, at the plano, proves himself a wonderful player, and gives several different styles of playing that brings him much success. The singing of the other two also met with much approval.

Ferns, Kerns and Biglow, in comedy acrobatic stunts, kept them laughing with their amusing anties. The three boys do some really clever tricks with ease and grace.

Relly and Morgan, in their capable performance of talking and singing, were big applause getters. As neither have any kind of a singing voice, it wouldn't be a bad idea for them to cut out singing entirely. Their talk is bright and snappy, and is put over in a clever manner.

Herman Seitz was the only single on the bill, and had an easy time of it. He got his audience going at the start with good songs, rendered cleverly. An impersonation of Bert Williams was also capably done, and brought him much applause.

The Roof Garden Trio, two men and a woman, open with each giving a good specialty, in one, and close with an uninteresting sketch, on full stage. The young woman works straight, while one of the men appears as a darkey, and the other as a crazy actor.

TO TEST AGENCY LAW.

Although Eduardo Sobarzo lost the suit which he brought against the Vaudeville Collection Agency and the Dan Casey Agency, in the Municipal Court, which decided that the agency law was not violated, the plaintiff will immediately appeal to a higher court.

O'Brien and Malevinski, who are the lawyers for the White Rats, and the plaintiff in this action are of the opinion that the case was decided upon technicalities, and that the real issues of the case were not passed upon. Mr. Sobarzo claims that the Vaudeville Collecting Agency acted as agent for Casey in collecting his commission of seven per cent, and that the contract which he (180-barzo) signed with Casey included a power of attorney for him to "draw the actor's salary, and the United Booking Offices charged Sobarzo an additional five per cent, commission, making the total commission he paid for Booking twelve per cent. of his salary.

Sobarzo has applied to Commissioner of License; Herman L. Robinson, to have Casey's license revoked on the ground that he violated the agency law, and the suit was brought after the commissioner had declined to act in the matter. Sobarzo asks. $400 damages from the Casey agency.

as Romeo; Albert Marks impersonated the German baron, and Butler Mandeville gave an excellent character in make-up and action as the English lord.

Florence Bennett looked a charming leading lady as Mile. Boulevard, with just enough Freach accent to show the nationality, and her various costume changes were greatly admired. Her singing of "Mile. Marie" and "Good-Bye, Rose," was encored.

Stefi Anderson was a fine Spanish dancer, who filtred as a pastime. She acted and hooked the part, and contributed several character dances in approved style.

Bosse Rosa is an attactive little person, who was all there with the soubrette qualities, and made many friends by her work, epecially in her songs. Vera Desmond, as Jenny, was a useful character, and had some numbers and other noticeable work to do.

The numbers in the first act included the opening chorus by the lively girls: "Mile. Marie," by Miss Bennett; "I Like to Hear an Irish Band," by Fred Nolan; "It's the Girl Behind the Man," by Harry Prescott; "Becky has a Job in a Burlesque Show," by Mr. Howe, with the girls in showy, short red, white and blue tunies, and tights.

"La Pepita" a Spanish number, with the girls in beautiful yellow and pink suits, led by Miss Anderson; the sextette in "Oh, What a Wonderful Dream;" "Walting for the Robert El. Lee," well led by Miss Rosa, the girls doing the shuffle in blue; "In the Garden of Allah," a showy ballet in the khedlye's palace: an Arabian dance by Mile. Ozora; "Zabelle," led by Besse Rosa, with lively chorus work; pictures of the harem, a smoke dream, by Mr. Howe, and other comedy bits were lively offerings. The finish of the acts with streams of confett from the files caught by the parasols of the dancers was a beautiful effect.

In the second act were introduced "Good-Bye, Rose," by Miss Bennett; "Ragtime Cozotsky," by Mr. Howe, to a lot of encores, in the second act were introduced was not satisfied until a little chubby girl, who had been consplicuous in her work throughout the show, had been heard. "Parislenne" wa

NEW CENTURY GIRLS.

COLUMBIA, NEW YORK, DEC. 16.

With twenty-three chorus girls himself and eleven other speaking parties, Sam Howe arrived on schedule time, and the show went over at both Monday performances in great style. The new two act burlesque, "Kissme," in two acts, by Sam Howe and Ed. Hanford, has been handsomely equipped with scenery, the first act showing the Umsky Chateau, at Dippy, and the second an interior of the Folies Bergere, Paris, set for a cabaret.

A great variety of costumes are shown by the chorus, most of them cut on a style novel and sparing as to material in quantity, although the quality is always A1.

"Kissme" tells the story of Mrs. Umsky, as French girl, who still clings to her former lovers, an Italian tenor, a German baron and an English lord, all well played. Umsky's efforts to obtain the first kiss from his wife led to a chase to Egypt, where the Herew impersonates the khedive with ludderous effects, and where Mrs. Umsky and her companions are selzed as slaves and sold at auction in the slave market.

Mr. Howe, as Umsky, was funnier than ever in handling his wife's lovers. An icchouse opposite the chateau afforded him an opportunity to cool off, where the flag signals indicated that his wife was being kissed by her admirers of various nationalities—and all were represented. The lechouse also gives him a chance to dispose of the lovers effectively at the finish.

Fred Nolan, as Maginnis, the valet, was funny in his own way. Harry Prescott was the picture man, as the straight, with good effect. Billie Arrington acted and sang well as Romeo; Albert Marks impersonated the German baron, and Butler Mandeville gave an excellent character in make-up and action as the English lord.

Florence Bennett looked a charming leading lady as Mile. Boulevard, with just enough French accent to show the nationality, and (WESTERN) role, gave a creditable performance and was a big hit.

Gloria Martinez, the prima donna, makes good as one of the classiest leading women on the burlesque boards; she is a stately brunetie with a fine voice, a beautiful figure, and she knows how to wear handsome costumes which make you sit up and take notice. Her work throughout the show made her an enjoyable feature.

Pearl Reid (the totalo kid) just tore alone from start to finish in the soubrette role. The audience didn't seem to get enough of Pearl, who has a way of working up her songs and fast lines that makes you like her. In silkles she displays a plump and shapely figure, and she was a big hit.

The Three Pacemakers are boys from the West who have good singing voices, and though a little strange in playing parts, will undoubtedly round to in good form in a week or so.

West who have good singing voices, and though a little strange in playing parts, will undoubtedly round to in good form in a week or so.

The first part, entitled "A Busy Day at Union Station" written by Ted Burns, is brimful of comedy situations, with good numbers throughout, and funny bits scattered in a way that makes it an entertaining opener. The Pacemakers (Stanley, Willis and Raymond) introduce a singing and dancing specialty that scored.

Pearl Reid scored a big hit in the minstrel first part, singing "The Midnight Choo-Choo," to eight choruses.

"New Year's Eve at the Country Club," Ted Burns' offering, was a tremendous success. Here is a little novelty sketch that would be a big feature in vaudeville.

The burlesque entitled "The Lord's Reception" was the burlesque offering, and a good, fast closer that held the audience to the final drop of the curtain.

The chorus: Lydia Franklin, Marle Morse, Anita Berger, Nita Martinez, Kate Carr, Margarat Alexander, Tina Roth, Janet Martin, Rene Powell, Marle Madill, Cecil Loomis, Evelin Chase, Emma McVeigh, Irene Hill, Alice Baker, Lottle Williams, Katherine Kerr, Tina Roth, Lydia Franklin, Janet Martin.

The musical numbers in the first part are: "Good-bye Everybody's Girl," Pearl Reid and Ralph Rockway: "A Merry Modern Maid," Gloria Martinez: "The Back Home," Gloria Martinez: "Looking for a Girl," Pearl Reid, Ralph Rockway: "A Merry Modern Maid," Gloria Martinez: "The Dress Parade," Gloria Martinez. In the second part they had: "Songs of Yesterday" Gloria Martinez; "You Can Do That Over There," Ted Burns and Gloria Martinez; "Missey Moon," Ralph Rockway: "Reuben." (Chas. Saunders and National City Four; "Good-Bye, Rose," Ted Burns and Ralph Rockway: "Tennessee," Gloria Martinez; "My Blushing Sue," Pearl Reid.

Executive staff: Walter Greaves, manager; Toe E. Pine, business manager; Ted Burns; stage manager; Louis Doll, musical director; Fred Elstrod, property man; Henry, Hearne, electrician; Frank Merchant, carpenter; Tina Roth, wardrobe mistress.

Buster Burry is a regular cabaret artiste, now doing nicely singing, and singing from the boxes at Miner's Eighth Avenue this week, "That Mellow Melody."

Neith Martinez, the little Spanish beauty, has joined the New Century Girls.

HARRY McAvor closed with the Yankee Doodle Girls at the Empire, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 14, and was replaced by Burt Jack. At, Martin, Irish comedian, has left burlesque for a short time and is playing vaude-ville engagement with Lotta Baker in a classy piano act.

George Banks joined Louis Robie's Knickerbockers, replacing Cecil Summers.

DOUGHERTY WELL REMEMBERED. Frank Dumont sends us a souvenir program of the Hughey Dougherty benefit, in Philadelphila, and informs us that the affair was a big success. Mr. Dougherty received a check for $3,007. Many advised him to go to Bermuda or Florida, but Hughey says he is going to remain right here, where he is known, and among his friends.

FAIR ASSOCIATION ELECTION. The Philadelphia County Fair Association has elected the following officers: President. Samuel K. Foster; vice president, Edward E. Casey; secretary, Henry Brous, and treasurer, Walter R. Buckman. This association was only organized early this year, and its first fair, held in September last at Byberry, a suburb of Philadelphia, was very successful. ### "OLD ADELPHIA DAYS."

(DEDICATED TO J. BERNARD DYLLYN.)

Do you remember, friend John, the old Adelphia days,
And good old San Francisco town, on the shores of 'Frisco Bay?
She stood on California, above old Kearney Street;
The shows they gave at that old house were mighty hard to beat.
Ned Buckley was our boss, John; a good old scout was he—
A smile was always on his face, and jovial as could be.
John Woodward, you remember, he used to run the stage.
And when you used to guy him, how he'd fiy into a rage.
And when you used to guy him, how he'd fiy into a rage.
And when you used to guy him, how he'd fiy into a rage.
And when you held be not an activate the bear and served the bear and wines—
I tell you, John, I feel so good to write about old times.
George Kinnerman played the cornet, Shreiner played the fid;
John Alpers played the clarinet, drums were played by Kidd;
Frank Lavarnie and La Seur, Jeff De Angelis and Le Clair, Tom Butler, Billy Russell, Mollie Williams, all worked there.
Ed. Foy and Jimmy Thompson, they danced and tumbled, too,
In their graceful song and dance, "My Charming Little Sue."
Crosby and Martin also, Jim Larkin and his wife,
E. T. Stetson's "Neck and Neck." Sid. France, in "Marked for Life."
Lew Spencer, in the first part, along with Boyd and Wade—
I never will forget, John, the big hit that they made.
Sam Rickey, Chas. McCarthy, the Reynolds boys were there.
With Billy White and Lottle Hayes, our old friend, Chas. Mestayer;
Great Dyllyn, he was there, too, with songs and Irish wit;
In "Pinafore," as "Dead Eye," my, wasn't he a hit!
I'd like to hear him sing again George Kidd's song, "Peckinpaugh;"
Ned Harrigan's song of "Never Take the Horseshoe from the Door.
Lew Dockstader played there, too, John—those days he was Lew Clapp;
He didn't have a rep. then—he wasn't on the map.
He did an old time song and dance, called "Sally, Bless My Soul,"
And for an encore danced a reel, and jokes a few he told.
The Webster Brothers, Ed. and Jim, in Irish songs and dance;
John Guerin, Mark Murphy, Granz and Hayden, Mabel Vaughn and Claudie Lee, DETROIT "HIP" PROSPERS.

(Special to THE CLIPPER.)

(Special to THE CLIPPER.)

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 7.

While we are lamenting the paucity of new amusements, it remains a fact that the old time form of entertainment can come back. Substantial proof of this fact is exemplified by a visit to the Hippodrome, in this city.

Occupying three floors of the large six story building at 225-27-29 Woodward Avenue, and with Harry P. Williamson at the helm, this enterprise is making good in every sense of the word, and a description of the character of the entertainment given may be of help to a chance reader.

The first floor is a Pompelian Theatre, devoted to moving pictures and popular songs; the second floor is known as the Colonnade Curio-Hall, where the old museum idea is worked out in a refined and up-to-date namer, while the third floor is a mammoth menagerie. On exhibition in the curio hall are: Joe Cramer, of elastic skin fame; boby Etta, the happy fat girl; Baron Du Barcy, midget; Baroness Sidonia, bearded lady; Josephine Lambert and her den of snakes, South Sea Island Joe and his wife, Beno; Funch, Illusions, laughing mirrors, a number of legitimate concessions, and the world famed Samer Twins. The admission to all three floors is ten cents, and this low price, combined with the character of the performance and the genteel deportment of all employees, daily draws thousands upon thousands of warry shoppers from the streets for an hour's recreation. The Hippodrome Co. is incorporated with a capital stock of $150,000. A. Arthur Caille is president and treasurer.

COL. HALL IN FINE FETTLE.

COL. HALL IN FINE FETTLE.

Col. Geo. W. Hall ("Popcorn George") was a weicome caller at the Western Bureau of The Clipper while in Chicago last week, looking after the sale of some animals and show property, and incidentally conferring with his publishers, who will print the story of his life. This autoblography of America's oldest living showman should prove intensely interesting. The colonel intends to "tell it all" in his book and his experiences in the tent show business cover a period of sixty years of activity. In spite of his seventy-six years, "Popcorn George" is hale and hearty.

FRED GOLLMAR IN CHICAGO.

FRED GOLLMAR IN CHICAGO.

Fred Gollmar is making his temporary headquarters at the Wellington, in Chicago, and during a call at the Western Bureau of THE CLIPPER last week stated that work on the Gollmar Bros.' equipment, in Baraboo, was progressing satisfactorily, and that many improvements and additions were being made for next season, which will open late in April.

NOTES FROM PUBILLONES' SHOW.

The American Kentucky-bred horses, "Demorest," and "Bulger," are making big hits.
Miss Bennett is their trainer.
Mr. Publilones, circus will soon take the road for Mantanzas and Santiago provinces.
It is likely that he will bring a Cuban circus to the States soon.

AMONG the well known showmen who made their headquarters in St. Louis last week, were Jerry Mugivan, of Howe's Great London Shows: E. Frank Talbott, of Denver; Frank A. Robins, whose circus is Wintering in East St. Louis, and Sam McCracken, of the Barnum & Balley Show, on his way from New York to Kansas City.

Sun Notes.—We are touring Florida, and meeting with gratifying success. The weather is delightful and balmy. The show throughout has had a most prosperous tour, up to date. All of the folks back with the show are enjoying excellent health.

AT THE CIRCUS.

Jack Oliver Moore highly prizes this clip-

"A Secret of a Clever Bit of Deception."

""A Secret of a Clever Bit of Deception."

"A Girl Who Is Not a Girl.' Accidental discovery made by a Gleaner reporter, Kingston, Jamaica.

"Did you ever hear of a girl named Jack Moore Carroll? Well, hardly! Nearly all Kingstonians who have visited Shipp's Circus during their engagement here, have applauded and nodded their approval of the three pretty young girls (?) of the Nettle Carroll Trio. These clever wire performers have excited the admiration of all; but by a few close observers one of the young ladies has been under suspicion. The secret leaked out in reality last night at the hotel where the company is stopping, and where a reporter of The Gleaner had been asked by the circus management to attend a little-luncheon, after the show.

"I can pick out two of the Carrolls,' said the reporter to Mr. Shipp, but where is the third? The circus man grinned and pointed to a big, husky young man of about twenty-three, seated at the end of the table, talking in a deep voice, smoking a big cigar, and incidentally getting on the outside of a cold drink.

"You don't mean that he is the girl?"

in a deep voice, smoking a oig eight, and micidentally getting on the outside of a cold drink.

"'You don't mean that he is the girl?"

"'Exactly,' said the circus man, and then he called Jack Moore over, and introduction followed.

"Jack is just like any other human being off the stage, and not the least bit feminine. His taking the part of a girl is strictly a matter of business, and is easily explained. The people like to see girls best, and the managers will pay more salary for a big act composed entirely of girls. And as men can undertake more hazardous tricks than women. At any rate, Jack's make-up as a girl has done his part in deceiving nearly ail Kingston, and to-night's big audience will look upon him with all the more approval of his clever work and make-up, and we hope to see them back in Kingston again."

CIRCUS MEN FRATERNIZE.

In a box at Talbot's Hippodrome, St. Louis, on Monday evening of last week, was Samuel McCracken, manager of Barnum & Balley Show; Jerry Mugivan, manager frank A. Robbins, and spears in the scene of Arizona, in "Inder Many Flags." At the finish of the Wild West sports and pastimes there is a terrific cyclone, stampede and prairie fire, which closes the scene. The manager Frank A. Robbins' Shows; Chas, Mugivan, manager Rhoda Royal Shows; John Agle, equestrian director Ringling Shows. All were enthusiastic in their praise of the magnificent playhouse, the splendid bill and wonderful business.

BUCKSKIN BEN NOTES.

BUCKSKIN BEN NOTES.

Frank S. Reed, manager of Buckskin Ben's Famous Shows, writes: "After playing seventeen States and one foreign country, we closed the twenty-sixth season for Ben's shows at Jacksonville, Fla., on Dec. 2, and shipped the outfit to Cambridge City, Ind., the Winter quarters. Considering everything, it has been a very good season. We have contracted to play a number of the same fairs over again for next year, and, while it is a little early to outline the show for next season, we will have some surprises for the fair and carnival managers when the opening time comes. After a few days around Winter quarters I jumped to Evansville, to go out in advance of "Billy, the Kid" Co. for the Winter season. If nothing happens I will again take the management of Ben's shows next season, and he joins me in wishing all of our friends (and enemies, also) a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

PUBILLONES' ATTRACTIONS.

On Thursday, Dec. 12, on the S. S. Saratoga, the Original Berlin Madcaps left for Havana; also the Three Langslows, a shooting act. Dec. 10, the Bramsons, electric hoop rollers, will sail. Malosso's "Darling of Paris," with twenty people, will follow later. Richard Pitrot, the special New York representative of Mr. Pubillones, will send new attractions to Havana every week.

AT WESTERN BUREAU OF NEW YORK CLIPPER, 505 ASHLAND BLOCK, RANDOLPH ADVERTISEMENTS AND SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED AND CLARK STREETS, CHICAGO

MONDAY. Dec. 16. NEW EMPRESS NEARLY READY.

NEW EMPRESS NEARLY READY.

Everything is complete, except the interior decorations in the new Halsted Street Empress Theatre, nearing completion at Sixty, third and Halsted streets, one of Chicago's most crowded thoroughfares outside the loop. Formal announcement of the opening date has been postponed until after the Christmas holidays, so that prominent officials connected with the Sullivan & Considine chain of Empress theatres, extending from Cincinnation California, can be in Chicago to be present at the inaugural.

Costing nearly $200,000, and conceded ideal in construction, design and architecture, this newest addition to one of America's foremost popular-priced vaudeville circuits is a tribute to Chicago's theatre-loving spirit. With houses of varied description scattered in every vicinity it required experienced knowledge and progressive showmanship to adopt the location. This will be a twin to the Cottage Grove Avenue Empress, Sixty-third Street and Cottage Grove Avenue, operated and controlled by the same interests, and conducted with a like policy of three shows a day, two new shows each week, and nominal prices.

The work of construction was accomplished under the supervision of Fred Lincoln, general representative of Sullivan & Considine, with headquarters in Chicago.

It is expected that prominent showmen from East and West will be here to attend the inaugural. A Chicagoan will probably be made manager. Plans for the erection of two other Chicago Empress houses are well under way, one to be built on the West Side and another one the extreme North Side.

and another one the extreme North Side.

The travels of "The Pretty Little Widow" have been so deflected that it will not run into the Grand Opera House on Dec. 22, as it expected to do. The playhouse will be occupied, instead, on Dec. 23, by the musical farce, "Exceeding the Speed Limit," which is now on view in Boston, with Elizabeth Murray, Carter De Haven, Flora Parker and Frederick Bond in it. This is the piece which Eddie Foy and then Harry Fox planned to play at the Olympic last season under the name of "The Pet of the Petticoats."

When E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe appear at the Garrick for two weeks, beginning Monday, Jan. 6, they will present eight plays from their Shakespearean repertoire. It is announced that the Gilbert and Sullivan repertoire for the full term of their eagagement, at the Garrick Theatre will, in addition to "Patience," which will be given this week; Include performances of "Pinafore" during Christmas week, and of "The Mikado" during New Year's week.

Three members of "The Million" cast were changed Sunday, 15. Hazel Campbell, Helen Courtney and Herman Morel replaced Eulalie Jensen, Kenyon Bishop and Paul Ker, respectively.

"The Concert" is coming back on Dec. 23,

Couriney and Herman Morel replaced Eulalie Jensen. Kenyon Bishop and Paul Ker, respectively.

"The Concert" is coming back on Dec. 23, for a 'two weeks' engagement at the Blackstone Theatre, with the same cast, headed by Leo Ditrichstein.

David Belasco has canceled the two weeks' schedule for Frederick and Fanny Locke Hatton's comedy, "Years of Discretion," which were to have intervened between the New York and Chicago engagements. Consequently this play by Chicago authors shall have its first New York hearing on Christmas night, instead of Jan. 6, as originally planned.

"The Round-Up" will begin a holiday engagement of two weeks at McVicker's Theatre Sunday night, Dec. 22.

The sale by Vernon C. Seaver of his one-third interest in the Great Northern Hippodrome to Omaha capitalists will in no wise affect the policy of that playhouse. It will continue to give the "new idea" stage exhibitions—a combination of high class circus, vaudeville, concert and moving picture features.

"Fine Feathers" will not open in New York waideville, concert and moving picture reatures.

"Fine Feathers" will not open in New York on Christmas week as planned, because the Long Acre Theatre, which was to house this attraction, will not be completed by that time. The opening date for that theatre is now set for the first of February, and in the mean time "Fine Feathers," with its starcast, will be offered in other cities. So far St. Louis has secured it for Christmas week, and Milwaukee for New Year week. Other towns between Chicago and New York will be booked for the remaining three weeks.

MAJESTIC (Lyman B. Glover, mgr.)—Mc-Mahon, Diamond and Clemence seem to have struck the popular chord, and their singing, dancing and talking novelty, entitled "The Scarecrow," pleased week 9. Abbott and Curtis, in second place, presented some very clever imitations. Charles and Fannle Van and company took well in a laughable playlet, which presented some funny situations and gave scope to Mr. Van's spontaneous style of humor. Sarah Bernhardt repeated her success of the past week, and the "all seats soid" sign displayed at every performance was a striking tribute to the "world's greatest actress," and shows the warm spot she occupies in the hearts of the American public. Thomas Gray, in a playlet entitled "And They Lived Happy Ever After," adapted from the German, supported by a company of five people, pleased. Saranoff, the gypsy violinist, and Felix Adler, the singing comedian, went well. Bill for week of 16: Louis Simon and Kathryn Osterman, in "A Persian Garden;" the Courtiers, Frank North and company, Ameta, Diamond and Brennan, Cesare Nesi, Bowman Bros., and Bounding Patterson.

GEORGE ROWLEY was specially engaged to strengthen one of the Pantages road shows, and jumped to Seattle to open.

JUNIE MCCRES PLAYERS proved a big card at the Apollo Theatre last week, scoring the individual hit of a strong bill.

AGNES LEE AND COMPANY, in the dramatic playlet, "The Test," began a tour of the Hodkins Lyric Circuit recently, preliminary to a tour of the Sullivan-Considine time. The act was written by William F. Sallor, of The St. Paul Dispatch.

W. S. BUTTERFIELD spent several days last week at his offices in the Majestic Theatre Building, Chicago.

FELIX GREENBERG, a theatre manager from Peoria, Ill., was a Chicago visitor last week.

BEET AND BESSIE DRAPER are in Chicago after a tour on Hodkins' time.

GREENCHEN KNORR, who was formerly in the act of Dorn and Knorr, is now presenting a single. It was first shown at the Langley Theatre, for Aifred Hamburger. It scored a big hit. She opened this week for Claude Humphreys of the U. B. O. Miss Knorr is slanging "Sip It to Me. Somebody Will if You Don't," plays an instrumental number at the piano, and delivers a dramatic sketch from life, with piano accompaniment.

GRUBER'S ANIMALS began the Thielen time Dec. 9, at Elgin: "Cheyenne Days" has just finished that tour.

WALTER MEAKIN placed Carmi at the Hippodrome in St. Louis, week of Dec. 16. He secured twelve weeks for Eckert and Berg last Saturday.

"DAYIS AND WALKER completed Association bookings and went East with contracts for four weeks and a route in view.

W. S. BUTTERFIELD reports that new houses are planned in both Filint and Jackson, Mich. The Wayman Trio, a new act, is playing for Thomas Burchell. He has also booked the Rice Bros. musical tabloid at Kensington.

and company, Ameta, Diamond and Brennan, Cesare Nest, Bowman Bros., and Bounding Patterson.

Great Northern Hippodrome (Andy Talbot, mgr.)—Another week of capacity business ushered in Monday, 9, afforded ample evidence of the keen discrimination exercised by general representative John F. McGrail in selecting the features. Beginning to-day for the current week the bill includes: Billy Van, in his brand new comic lecture, "Dr. Nut;" Schnee and Fish, Karolla's animals, Chester and Grace, Chivo and Anatoka, Os-Ko-Man, Lillian Mortimer Co., Madame Bedini's horses, Dixon, Bowers and Dixon, in "The Rube Circus;" Greater City Four, Ruth Ellis and Frank Parrish.

Palace Music Hall (Mort H. Singer, mgr.)

—The bill for the week 8-14 was unusually well balanced, and in the writer's estimation should have been received with greater appreciation by the audiences. First on the bill were the Ryan Bros., billed as "cyclonic aerialists," full stage; in eight minutes of an acrobatic performance on Boman rings and single traps—a trifle better than the average. Mildred Grover, assisted by Dick Richards at the plano, in second place, went over well. Mrs. Gene Hughes and company, in third place, who should, if the ensemble of the bill permitted, have been on later, presented seventeen minutes of genuine humor through a playlet, entitled "Youth." Four people support Mrs. Hughes, Next came Joule Heather, who had to put over several numbers before she's them." Her songs are English, and this possibly caused the initial chilliness which Miss Heather, soon dispelled to her warmth of Teeling in her children warmth of the light in h tions. Then according to the program, "Don, the talking dog," introduced by Loney Haskell. Number six, "Puss in Boots," from an English pantomime, was the piece de resistance. A clever comic operetta, bulit around the fable of Dick Whittington and his cat, in four scenes, which reflects credit upon the Lee Lash studios. A cast of six piracipals and a chorus of fourteen support Will J. Kennedy, in the role of King Rumphiz. Pretty girls, catchy numbers, elaborate costumes and real comedy, in twenty-nine minutes. Fred Watson and Rena Santos; in seventh place, rendered a number of songs in a truly delightful manner. The Six Great Tornados closed the bill in an athletic act, similar to all other foreign acts of the same nature. Bill for week of 16: Rube Marquard and Blossom Seeley, W. C. Fields, Edmund Hayes and company, Winons Winter, Billy Gould and Belle Ashlyn, Stewart Sisters and Escorts, Bradshaw Brothers, Van Brothers, and the Two Claremonts.

The Men Who Handle Amusement

Affairs in Chicago.

LA SALLE.

LA SALLE.

This cozy little theatre has long been known as the home of Chicago musical comedy productions. Long runs are the rule, and it is seldom that more than two attractions are seen here in a season, and frequently one show has ran through the entire theatrical year. The house has a following all its own, the audiences seem to be on intimate terms with the players, and many stage favorites to-day owe their success to the popularity attained at the La Salle. The house is the smallest in the city given over to regular attractions, and has a seating capacity of but 770. The geniality of the present manager, Harry Askin, has had much to do with the prosperity of the house. He has the able assistance of the following staff: Fredrick Donnghey, assistant manager and publicity promoter; Harry A. Benest, treasurer; Frank Kane, assistant treasurer; John Williams, doorman; John Justice, head usher: W. J. Patterson, auditor.

The stage is small, and it is wonderful what has been accomplished in the way of scenic effects and elaborate mountings. The proscenium opening is 30 feet wide and 23 feet high. The stage is 65 feet wide, 49 feet high and but 21 feet deep. Charles Mast is the stage manager; George Parks, carpenter; Roscoe Major, electrician; E. Carrol, properties; Leo Mack, doorman. The orchestra is under the able direction of Ben M. Jerome, who has also composed the scores of many of the musical pleces produced.

The Great Martnne is showing a "new act" at the Great Northern Hippodrome this week (Dec. 16). It is in four scenes, with an elaborate setting. The act has been seen out of town, but is "new" to Chicago. His old act is well remembered here.

The Loos Bros. are under contract to play three weeks in January, for Alfred Hamburger.

This act was produced seven weeks ago, and has only lost seven days in that time. Last week it played the two best outlying theatres. The offering has progressed so rapidly that it is predicted that it will soon be seen at the Majestic.

MANAGER L. B. REMY, of the Hippodrome Theatre in Fort Worth, wired to Hodkins' Lyric Circuit last week that the show seen there Dec. 9-13 was the best "ever seen in the South" at the prices. This show was made up of the Six Idanias, Rogers and Dorman, Boston Von and company, Charles Hasty, and Eggleston and Smith.

DAN SHEEMAN, Mabel De Forest and company, in "A Jay Circus," is being seen at the Willard and Wilson theatres this week. The act has just completed a tour of the Thielen time. Sam Tishman, Thielen's representative in the association, states that the act broke records in every town.

LEAVENWORTH ON THE MAP.

For lo! these may years Leavenworth, Kan., has played no very important part in the amusement life of the nation. In selecting Leavenworth as the producing centre and Winter quarters for his various enterprises, Col. C. W. Parker enjoys the distinction of really placing the city on the map. At first glance this would seem a bit far-fetched, but it must be appreciated that every merchant, in fact, every commercial interest, is benefited, directly or indirectly, by the increased patronage of show people attracted to the community. Dispatches in dicate that other carnival organizations whimake their headquarters in Leavenworth, and so it is fair to presume that, as time goes on, the city will take on an even greater importance as a show centre.

Tom Franks, an English ventriloquist, was booked for the Pantages tour and came to this country. A provision was that the act should "make good" or it was permissible for the circuit to close the act after the first performance. The act opened in America at Philadelphia, and was not liked. J. C. Matthews then arranged a date at the Great Northern Hippodrome, Chicago. Franks played there one Thursday matinee and was closed. The mannerisms were too English for the act to "go" on this side. The ventriloquist claimed to have bookings on the other side, so J. C. Matthews was advised by Mr. Pantages to pay him a week's salary, which would cover the return trip to England nicely, and the tour was called off. This is considered fine treatment for a circuit to a performer, by vaudevillians who discuss it.

Blanche Mehaffy scored one of the biggest hits at the Columbia Theatre, St. Louis, last week, with the biggest bailad hit in the country, "Take Me Back to Dreamland."

Eckart and Gordon are meeting with pronounced success with "Take Me Back to Dreamland," and it is certainly a pleasure to hear them put this "natural hit over."

Olive Morgan, at the College Inn, and Vers. Long, at the Boston, have more requests to sing "Take Me Back to Dreamland" than any other song in their repertoire, which goes to preve that the melody of this great song is contagious and is wanted continuously.

Pearl Evans writes in from New Haven, at Poli's Theatre, that "Take Me Back to Dreamland" is absolutely the hit of her singing act, and that she has received at least a dozen cards asking where the song can be bought.

CAPTAIN SORCHO IN VAUDEVILLE.

I am in receipt of a very interesting letter from Captain Louis Sorcho, informing me that he will open his Winter vaudeville season with his Deep Sea Divers in New Orleans, Dec. 22. Captain Sorcho enjoyed a very prosperous season, I understand, with the Herbert A, Kline Shows, and while I have no definite information regarding the captain's plans for next season, I would not be surprised if he is with Kline. His exhibition is a novel one, and a money maker.

Captain Sorcho has done much during the past fifteen years to improve the armor and quipment which is in general use in deep sea diving. He has made the matter a lifetime study, and has invented and patented many of the devices in general use, and gives his audience a good idea of how ships look while sinking, and of the methods used in raising them. KENNEDY STAYS WITH PARKER.
Well, boys, suspense is over.
Con T. Kennedy is to continue as general manager of the Great Parker Shows, his twelfth year with the C. W. Parker enterprises. This announcement will dispel the impression, which has been current in carnival circles for some time past, that Mr. Kennedy, in association with E. C. Talbott, who is to be general agent of the Great Parker Shows next season, contemplated putting out a new carnival, which would have meant a contending factor in this field of tented amusement to be reckoned with. Con Kennedy is without a doubt one of the most popular men in the carnival field, and is generally recognized as one of the most competent.

Jack Shields, of "Lunette" fame, writes from Zacapa, Gautemala, that he has a show playing the lots through Central America for the Winter. He will return to the States next Spring and join out with a carnival. He was with K. G. Barkoot last Summer. Shields says there are a great many American showmen on the isthmus.

Thanks, friends and associates of the Summer for your many contributions with expressions of good will. This column is yours. You of the circus, carnival and Wild West, in whatever capacity, in whatever country, whether you are high and lofty or meek and lowly. I will be glad to have your views on the topics discussed in this department from time to time; your present affiliations, your future prospects, anything of interest to the outdoor amusement world at large. Appreciating the long felt need of eliminating from the every-day vocabulary of the average camival talker, time-worn phrases in extolling the wonders of his attraction: for the good of the service, and to add a degree of dignity to the profession, I have installed a Cannery, and for a starter have put away in hermetically sealed jars, carefully numbered, the following:

"Appeared in all the leading theatres."

"Never out, never over."

"Bowl of jelly, etc., etc."

"Large, steel enclosed arena."

"Elevated stage."

NEW VAUDEVILLE ACTS

Wm. Burr and Daphne Hope.

PROCTOR'S FIFTH AVENUE, MATINEE, DEC. 16. Presenting a singing novelty entirely different from anything ever seen in this country, this versatile couple, who hail from the other side, was a big success here Monday matinee. Their setting is very novel, and consists of the whole stage being draped in black cloth, with an electric lamp hung in the centre and two white chairs and a table underneath. They remain seated almost during their entire performance, and render a

Their best offering was a song, entitled "In Goo-Goo Land," given by Mr. Burr, which met with hearty approval. The offering should be a big winner on account of its novel ideas. It runs about fifteen minutes, on full stage. jumps. The act runs about ten minutes, on Jack.

Lillian Lorraine.

Slightly nervous, but looking very pretty and beautifully gowned, Lillian Lorraine completely won the audience at her vaudeville debut. Appearing before a black velvet drop. and with a piano accompaniment, she sang an operatic selection with new words. Following with a pretty Southern ballad, "Daddy Sweetheart," during this number she wore a hoop skirt and sunbonnet, and looked "Some Boy" followed this, and then for a closing number her old success, "Row, Row, Row." was delightfully put over with various movements of the body. An encore was called for, but not delivered. Her costumes are magnificent, but took some time to change. When her nervousness is not so apparent, she bids fair to be one of vaudeville's leading singles. Twenty-two minutes, in three.

Mike Bernard and Maurice Burkhart. PROCTOR'S FIFTH AVENUE, MATINEE, DEC. 16. Stopping the show here Monday matinee, and a "corking" good one at that, is exactly what this versatile and clever pair did. The audience just wouldn't let them go. Everybody knows Mike Bernard, and are also acquainted with his ability as a plano player, therefore it is useless to say he is about one of the greatest players on that instrument that can be found in vaudeville.

His new partner, Maurice Burkhart, a handsome young fellow, in evening dress, offered several character songs with as great a success as has ever been given a singer at this house. His biggest hit was a new song, entitled "At the Devil's Ball." The act runs about twenty minutes, in one. Jack.

PROCTOR'S FIFTH AVENUE, MATINEE, DEC. 16. Making her first vaudeville appearance in this country, and just after a successful run at the Winter Garden, Dolle Dalnert just about managed to get over at the Monday matinee. She offers three songs-two in French and the other in broken Englishwearing the same costume for all. The program stated her songs would be accompanied by gorgeous changes of costumes but eviher trunks were delayed, as the only change she made was putting a robe over a beautiful salmon-colored gown.

Along with her singing she offered a little action that did not meet with much approval. The act runs about twelve minutes, in one.

KEITH'S UNION SQUARE, EVENING, DEC. 16. Two men compose this team of hand to and balancers, and the systematic manner and grace they display in their work, puts hem among the leaders in their line. They work well together, and while balanced head to head got off a line of comedy chatter, on the above evening, that helped only a little because their skill alone will make them a strong addition to any bill. #### Hart's Three Singers.

KEITH'S UNION SQUARE, EVENING, DEC. 16. William Weedon, bass; Robert Bernard, baritone, and Harry Barrows, tenor, compose this new act of Joe Hart's, and at the opening shows of Monday they were a tremendous success. Mr. Hart made sure there would be no slip up by sending down a special leader for the trio to work with. Each is the possessor of a wonderfully powerful voice, and the manner in which they offered their solos and their trio numbers at this show, will put them in a class by themselves as future vaudeville headliners. About twelve minutes, in one.

The Great Marville.

HAMMERSTEIN'S, MONDAY MATINEE, DEC. 16. Appearing in white spangled tights, this young man for eight minutes twists himself into seemingly impossible knots and shapes. He appeared last on the bill, but those who stayed to see him were hearty in their applause for his contortion feats. Doc.

Eddie Badger.

HAMMERSTEIN'S, MONDAY MATINEE, DEC. 16. This young man appeared in comedy makeup and played, on novel instruments, tunes that were well known several decades ago. From time to time he attempted comedy, but did not get it over. His closing number on a stringed instrument was his best. Twelve minutes in two.

Hufford and Chain.

PROCTOR'S FIFTH AVENUE, MATINEE, DEC. 16. Making their first appearance in New York, these two boys walked away with one of the largest hits of the program. They presented an episode called "The Cull'ed Parson and the Minstrel Man," which is full of bright comedy and fine singing.

At the opening one of the boys appears in evening dress, and the other as a colored parson, and renders several of the latest popular songs with much success. The on character then offers a sermon in negro dialect that has the audience roaring with laughter. They close with songs, both displaying fine voices. The act runs about fifteen minutes, in one,

She opens her performance with a Spanish dance, and after a little posing, begins her wire work. She does everything known in this line, including dancing, swinging and full stage. Jack.

HAMMERSTEIN'S, MONDAY MATINEE, DEC. 16. PROCTOR'S FIFTH AVENUE, MATINEE, DEC. 16. The above act is composed of two men, two women and a little girl. It is a cycling novelty, the five performing tricks on the wheel with ease and grace demonstrating all as finished artists in their line. The act is handsomely costumed and runs about twelve minutes, on full stage.

PROCTOR'S FIFTH AVENUE BILL.

FOR WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY, DEC. 23.

PROCTOR'S FIFTH AVENUE BILL.

FOR WEEK REGINNING MONDAY, DEC. 23.

Manager Gus McCune has arranged a real Santa Claus bill for the holiday week to add to the joys of Yuletide.

The main headliner of the bill will be the presentation of David Belasco's masterplece, "The Drums of Oude." a sensational scenic spectacle that has its thrills as well as holding the deepest interest throughout. Ethel MacDonough, that versatile and charming girlle, will offer a budget of new songs and chatter. Leo Carrillo, the society entertainer and comedian, will offer a monologue and a few character impersonations that have gained him a name among vaudeville's leading fun extractors. Bert Melrose, the equilibrist, will cause the usual wonderment as to how he does the things he has succeeded in accomplishing. The Musical Johnstons, fresh from a European triumph, are musiclans par excellence. Campbell and Brady are a duo whose funmaking has all but made the Sphinx laugh. The Four Regals, herculean athletes, will display unsurpassed feats of strength and Stanley James and company will rake up new laughs in their ripping farce, entitled "Bixby's Baby," while those cabaret champlons, Sherman, Van and Hyman, will complete the bill in one of the post rollicking, frolicking "cut-up" singing acts in all the realm of vaudeville.

in Philadelphia.

Sher C. Campbell (right name Sherman Cohen) died at Chicago Ill., Nov. 26, 1874. He was born in New Haven, Conn., May 16, 1829, and during his early life he learned the trade of carriage trimming, which he followed for some years. He was very fond of music, and, possessing a fine alto voice, he soon gained a local reputation.

First put on burnt cork with Kimberly's Campbell's Minstrels, in 1849. In 1854 he visited California with E. P. Christy's party In the following year he engaged with the Backus Minstrels, and visited Australia. While performing there his phenomenal baritone voice attracted the attention of Catherine Hayes, who invited him to sing at one of her concerts, which invitation he accepted. While performing there his phenomenal baritone voice attracted the attention of Catherine Hayes, who invited him to sing at one of her concerts, which invitation he accepted. His rendering of "Dermot Asthore" on that occasion not only proved a great hit with the public, but led Miss Hayes to personally compliment him, and urge him to at once commence a course of study for the operatic stage. In 1856 he returned to San Francisco, where he remained three years, following his profession and increasing his reputation. In 1862 he joined Bryant's Minstrels, then located at Mechanics' Hall, 472 Broadway, and continued with them for some years. Shortly after this time he determined to try his fortune upon the operatic stage, and a company was organized under the management of Lafayette Harrison who gave performances at Niblo's Saloon. Shortly after this he joined William Castle, formerly a minstrel, in the management of an operatic troupe, with the late Fanny Stockton as prima donna, and made a tour of the country. Then he was ergaged with Caroline Richings' Opera Co, with which he continued some years. From 1869 until 1872 he was a prominent member of the Parepa Rosa English Opera Co. In the Fall of the latter year he accompanied Mme, Rosa to Europe, and while she fulfilled an engagement at Alexandria, Egypt, he went to Milan, Italy, where he pursued his studies. At the Conclusion of Mme. Rosa's engagement Mr. Campbell re-joined her in London, Eng., and became the chief baritone of an English opera troupe, under the management of her husband, Carl Rosa.

Bryant's Minstrels was the last burnt cork party he played with. His remains were intered in Graceland cemetery.

Jean Perry, the English comedienne, has two applause winners in "When I Met You Last Night in Dreamland" and "All Night Long."

Mae Curtis and Goldie Wright are again together after their separation, and will be heard in a new W. R. song repertoire, featuring as a duet, "All Night Long."

"Next Sunday at Nine" will be featured by Frank Johnson and Amanda Hendricks.

"Down Home Rag" 's proving the biggest kind of a hit with John Lambert, of the Primryse-Dockstader Minstrels.

Gannon and Tracy, at the Hippodrome, Chicago, scored heavily week of 2. with a selected repertoire of Will Rossiter songs. "Their best encore winner was "Down Home Rag."

Hale O'Riley is enjoying excellent success with several of our numbers, including "Next Sunday at Nine" "All Night Long." and "Oh, You Georgia Rose."

"I'll Be There," the new novelty march song, is going nicely for Keenan and Beveely, Jane Rarbour, indefinitely engaged at the La Salle Hotel. Chicago, is featuring "When I Met You Last Night in Dreamland," and "All Night Long,"

Alma Youlin has an original conception of "Next Sunday at Nine," and "When I Met You Last Night in Dreamland," both numbers being exceptionally well received, she reports.

Winch and Poor are using "When I Met You Last Night in Dreamland," to gratifying applause at every performance.

"You'll Never Know the Good Fellow I've Been' is still the big song hit with Grimm and Elliott, and always good for numberless encores.

Flo Adler and Boys are delighting audiences with their rendition of "All Night Long," singing several special choruses at every performance.

NOTES FROM JOE MORRIS MUSIC CO The "Drawing Card" for Dinkin's Yankee Doodle Girls Co. Is "Dainty Marie." Not only does she excel as an aerial artist, but ber character singing and acting "gets" her audlenge before she surprises them with her aerial stunts. Marie is making a big hit with "Oh, You Little Bear." Blyon Gertrude, who is big in ability, is featuring "Oh, You Little Bear." and "All I Hear is Rag."

Bijou Gertrude, who is big in ability, is featuring "Oh. You Little Bear." and "All I Hear is Rag."

Wilbur Held is getting fine results with Al. Solman's ballads, "Mary Was My Mother's Name." He always receives encores, which is an encouraging sign to an artist.

Straub Sisters, one of the most entertaining sister acts on the vaudeville stage, are featuring the high class ballad, "Mine," and tell us that it is going better than ever.

San Curiis and company scored a big hit with Al. Solman's new ballad, "Why Did You Make Me Care?" Mr. Curtis opened his New York engagement at the Academy of Musie.

Anyone who has seen "A Night in the Park" will remember Ruth Lockwood, who combines clever acting, beautiful singing with a charming personsity. Her festure number is "Oh. You Little Bear," in which she is ably assisted by that excellent singing combination, "The Electric City Four," "The Electric City Four," always getting a big hand at the conclusion of the song.

Al. Ripon, Scotch ventriloquist and comedian, who is also noted for his singing ability, is featuring Al. Solman's "Mine."

John W. Vogel's Minstrels are featuring more Morris numbers this year than any previous season, and we are pleased to state that they are all making good. The most prominent songs are: "When the Old Folks Were Young Folks," "Oh, You Little Bear," "Why Did You Make Me Care?" and "Melody Chimes."

FROM THE F. J. A. FORSTER CO. Several months ago Mr. Forster selected Musgrave and Keithley's beautiful song, "Garland of Old Fashioned Roses," for his big ballad success for the season of 1912-13. It is now one of the best selling songs in the Middle West, and since has duplicated in the East its Western nonularity.

since has duplicated in the East its Western popularity.

Conspictous among the syncopated successes of the year is the big Forster number, Roger Lewis and Jimmie Monaco's, "At the Ragtime Ball." It is being featured in the East in vandeville and in cafes and cabarets by more big acts than any other rag song. It caught the public fancy in Chicago and other parts of the Middle West long ago.

Chicago and other parts of the Middle West long ago.

Aubrey Fringle is making a distinctly favorable impression with that ballad beautiful, "Garland of Old Frehloned Roses." Flo Golden is scoring strongly with those popular Forster numbers, "At the Ragtime Ball" and "Garland of Old Fashioned Roses." at the Boulevard Trio.

"At the Ragtime Ball," the Forster hit that is making good, is a veritable riot wherever Edna Farlow uses it. "Garland of Old Fashioned Roses" is a sensational hit for the American Star Four, and brings this popular quartette the applause honors of every bill.

NOTES FROM STERN & CO.

NOTES FROM STERN & CO.

Jos. W. Stern & Co. have completed negotiations whereby they will be the exclusive American publishers hereafter of the well known catalogue of H. Delormel, of Paris.

Neil O'Brien, who is making a successful tour at the head of his own ministrel company, writes in that he is featuring the new Stern hit. "Daddy Has a Sweetheart," and that the receptions the song receives are phenomonal. He states that in his long career he does not recall a song which creates the enthusiasm that this one does.

From all accounts, Al. H. Woods' musical farce, "Exceeding the Speed Limit," starring Carter De Haven, has been put over. The catchy song hits include: "I'd Like to Marry Them All," "My Turkish Opal from Constantinople," "The Rag Pickin' Man," and "Half Past Kissing Time."

MEET ME TO-NIGHT IN DREAMLAND " and I'D LOVE TO LIVE IN LOVELAND "-

N.B. This is the NEW "DREAMLAND" Song they're all "raving" about ___ Don't Miss It

By a gib blind gib ble tibes By be ble 7月月月月1年日1年月月1日 grandigale the manager 94 11 beau-ti-ful dreams came true BE PIL IJEDDIJEJ JIP PIP

READ THIS BEAUTIFUL LYRIC FIRST VERSE COPYRIGHT, 1912, BY WILL ROSSITER I CARE NOT TO-DAY IF THE SKIES ARE GRAY, IF IT'S RAINING RED ROSES, DEAR:
NO LONGER I PINE FOR THE SUN TO SHINE,
FOR THE STAR OF MY LIFE IS NEAR;
AND THE WORLD IS A WONDERFUL WORLD, IT SEEMS, SINCE I MET YOU LAST NIGHT IN THE LAND OF DREAMS. CHORUS WHEN I MET YOU LAST NIGHT IN DREAMLAND, WHERE THE LOVE-LIGHT OUISHINES THE MOON; WHEN I MET YOU LAST NIGHT IN DREAMLAND, IN THE LAND WHERE THE ROSES BLOOM:
WHEN I WHISPERED, SWEETHEART, ILOVE YOU, AND YOU ANSWERED, I LOVE YOU, TOO; WHEN I KISSED YOU LAST NIGHT IN THAT WONDERFUL LIGHT,

> SECOND VERSE YOU CAME, DEAR, IT SEEMS, TO THE LAND OF DREAMS, AS IN ANSWER TO CALL OF MINE: I LONGED FOR YOU SO, YOU WERE SENT, I KNOW, SO MY HEART WOULD NO LONGER PINE; AND I KNOW BY THE LIGHT IN YOUR EYES, SO BLUE. I COULD GATHER THE ROSES OF LOVE WITH YOU.

ALL MY BEAUTIFUL DREAMS CAME TRUE.

This is the BIC WALTZ SONC "HIT" for 1913—just as Will Rossiter's "I'd love to live in Loveland" is the biggest "hit" of 1912. When Will Rossiter tells you a song is O. K. you know it's true. Will Rossiter is the only publisher that "tries out" his songs on the stage-before he tells YOU they are O. K. His success to-day is PROOF that HE KNOWS HIS BUSINESS.

Underwriters' Type "B"

When the crowds begin to drift by your place at night and get jumping around the entrance of the movies on the next block, don't stick an extra arc light out in front and think you've fixed things. Look at the heart of your business—at your moving picture machine.

Pictures look wobbly and spotty and full of specks? Keep the audience waiting for repairs once in a while? No wonder the crowds are going somewhere else.

Ever seen an Edison Kinetoscope? Ever notice how simple and strong it was-how there wasn't any possibility of fire risk in running it? Ever notice the pictures it threw-bright and clear and steady as real life? Ever thought of its economy? Of course you have. Then sit right down and ask us to send you a copy of the Edison Kinetogram and Catalog 500. You'll be glad.

OLD TIMERS IN PROVIDENCE.

Harry Le Clair met with great success at the Old Timers' festival at Keith's, last week. The bill also included Luke Wilson, Golden and Hughes, Dan Mason company, Ward and Curran, Hines and Remington, Col. Holdsworth, Caron and Herbert, Maggle Cline, and "Dinkle and Maginty's Racket." Business was very big. On Tuesday Manager Loveaberg gave the entire company a banquet at the Crown Hotel, and on Dec. 20, the day Harry became of age, to his surprise, on arriving at the hotel he found that Maggle Cline had reserved a private dining room and gave a little banquet in his honor. Those who had the great pleasure of sitting at the table with the great Irish queen were John Curran, of Ward and Curran; Hines and Remington, Col. Sam Holdsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rigby, who happened to be in the city; your humble servant, and, of course the queen.

Harry writes: "I need not tell you what kind of a time we had, talking about the good old days which have gone, never to come again, and then there was speech making and toasts, and the party did not break up until an early hour in the morning."

MRS. GERTRUDE WEYMOUTH.

MRS. GERTRUDE WEYMOUTH.

The death of Mrs. Gertrude Weymouth, the well known proprietor of the Weymouth Hotel, Bangor, Me., occurred Dec. 17, after a comparatively brief illness. She was forty-four years of age, and is survived by her husband, George Weymouth; a daughter, Mrs. Rodney Lowell, and an adopted son, Robert Lewis, all of Bangor. Mrs. Weymouth was a former resident of Canaan, but has lived in Bangor for some time, managing the Belmont, on Hammond Street before she took the house on Columbia Street. The Weymouth was much patronized by theatrical people, and scores of the profession all over the country will learn of the death of Mrs. Weymouth with sincere regret. She was kindly and charitable almost to a fault, and never turned a deaf ear to anyone in trouble or distress. Her goodness by heart was often imposed upon, but she never lost faith in the world in general, and numberless kind acts will long be remembered. Burlal was held from the home of her parents in Canaan.

"ALABI BILL" AT WEBER'S.

Joe Weber's Theatre returns once more to the list of dramatic houses on Monday night, Dec. 30, when a new play in four acts, en-titled "Alabi Bill," will hold the boards. It is from the pen of Joseph Byron Totten, and the play, which is of the underworld, will be produced by a syndicate of managers, includ-ing Joseph Weber, Wm. M. Ovlate, William Wood and Edward Margolies, The latter is a brother-in-law of Lew Fields. Ralph Stuart and Harold Hartsall will play the leads.

"PRIMROSE."

"PRIMROSE."

Klaw & Erlanger will present Elsie Ferguson in the Cosmo Gordon Lennox adaptation of the Caillavet and de Flers' comedy, "Primrose," for the first time, at the Apollo Theatre, in Atlantic City, Dec. 26. In Miss Ferguson's company are Frederick Truesdell, Arthur Lewis, Harriet Otis Dellenbaugh and Helen Fulton. "Primrose" was originally presented at the Comedie Francaise.

VERY YOUNG SONG BIRDS

The Ohlo Humane Society had Manager I. M. Martin, of the Cincinnati Orpheum Theatre, arrested for violation of the child law. Dorothy and Ellie Rutan, of Rutan's Song Birds, are below the legal age for stage appearances, hence the action. The mother of the children, who are seven and five years old, travels with them.

MORE "WALLINGFORD" COMPANIES. Chas. B. Hamlin will go with the "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" Co. which opened under Abe Spitz's management, in Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 25. Another company opened at Dover, N. H., Dec. 25.

SCENE PAINTERS UNITE. The Association of United Scene Artists has been formed. Paul Scott is their sole agent.

ROSTER AND NOTES FROM THE MAE LA PORTE CO.—Tipton, Ind.. proved to be a "big one" for this season. We played to large business all week, turning them away on Friday night, with "The White Sister," and also capacity with "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall." This is proving to be the best season Miss La Porte has ever had, as we have only had one losing week since the opening, Aug. 5. After the holidays we will start on a trip East, playing only the best time, and many return dates in Ohio. The complete roster of the company: Joe McEnroe, manager; Dave Heilman, agent; S. M. La Porte, stage manager: Sam Eman, master of properties; Frank H. Cox, musical director; Del Sherrard, Joe T. Kelley, Raymond Hutton, Addie Caldwell, Elaine D'Orsay, Jesse Gildermeister and Miss La Porte. This year we will spend Christmas week in Ethart, Ind., and New Year's week in Kalamazoo, Mich.

MIRIAM CLEMENTS has closed with the "Everywoman" Co. Thais Magrane will play the leading role.

Notes from Red Raven Comedy Co.—Harry B. King writes: "Just a few lines to let you know that the Red Raven Comedy Co. never forgets the troupers' best friend. The Old Reliable. We are now in the heart of the Pennsylvania slate region, and are packing them in nightly. If business continues to increase it will be necessary for the company to carry an 'S. R. O.' We played the Music Hall, Bangor, Pa., recently, and then returned for three days as a special return engagement. We are booked solid until the latter part of March, which route will pilot us to the far West. The company of twenty-two people and one-half-six male, sixteen female, and Queenie Gordon (one-half), the pride of the company, and positively the youngest trouper en tour at the present time. Lew Gordon and Manny King are our feature comedians, and have been a riot wherever we played. Miss Gassmann, one of our chorus girls, recently undertook the most daring feat ever attempted in these parts, that of going down on a small box, fastened by cable, into the pit of one of the slate quarries of Bangor, Pa., at a depth of 400 feet. The natives fairly raves about her nerve, and the press was over enthusiastic with BABY ESMOND, the child actress, who made her debut when she was two and one-half years old, and who received a solid gold medal in Washington, D. C., engraved "Presented by Manager to Baby Esmond, the Wonderful Child Actress." She will hereafter be known as La Petite Ludivine Esmond, as she is now over seven years of age. She opened with "Racketty-Packetty House," atop of the Century Theatre, in New York, Dec. 23.

Freed Walton is telling an amusing incident, after his return to London from his first American tour, He was entertaining some of his friends at the Greenroom Club with a vivid description of the electric advertisements used by all the theatres of the "Great White Way." When he had finished and was satisfied that he had done full justice to American methods of advertising, one of his friends, a rather bored young Englishman, said: "My word! Awfully interesting; but doesn't it make the theatres frightfully conspicuous?"

BILLY MARSHALL, with "The Girl from Broadwny" Co., writes: "Everybody well and happy, only the mosquitoes bother us at night. Will spend Christmas in Waco, Tex., reading The OLD RELIABLE."

Notes from Senrab's United Shows.—Billy Senrab writes from West Side, Ia.: "The show closed its tenting season at West Side, Ia., Oct. 19, ending a good season. I got a first class outfit, all new, from the marque to the four smail lining tents, also big tent, sixty foot, with a thirty foot middle piece. We all lived on the lot, and enjoyed the camp life. I stored my outfit here at West Side, in the Opera House, for the Winter, and will open the season about the middle of May, carrying about twenty people and band and orchestra, making week stands, playing the bigger towns, rutting on repertoire and feature vaudeville between the acts. I had nine jeople last season. Vera Senrab and Joe Kildas were united in marriage Oct. 5, a. Ricketts, Ia. Mr. Kildas and myself are running moving pictures and vaudeville in the Opera House. The West Side Orchestra furnishes the music for the show. Our best neighbors are three old timers, Mr. Heroda, who runs the little Hungary cafe, and tells the rubes fortunes on the side; Wm. Moran, head walter and music teacher; E. R. Becker, chambermaid, tailor shop and animal king. The good Old Reliable is always on file. Drop in and see us. We all wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

front page notices about same. It proved a big drawing card for us there. Well, if all goes well, 'yours truly' will probably eat his Christmas repast in the smoky city of Pittsburgh, as I expect to be there on Christmas Day. All the company are looking forward with great anticipation for The Old Reliable Anniversary Number. The coming of The Clipper is the one event each week with us all. Herewith is the correct roster of company at this writing: Lew Gordon, manager; Manny King, stage manager; Emil King, musical director; John Holley, master of props.; Harry B. King, business agent; Lew Gordon, Manny King, Sam Shaw, John Holley, Allie Janis. Chorus—Ida Prentice, Elizabeth Gassmann, Elsie Werner, Marion Snow, Myrtle Clarke, Mabelle Adams, Melba Lorraine, Josie Holley, Babe La Delle, Flo Durand, Billy King, Jean Frisco, Bernice De Farres, Belle Williams, Ollie Janis, Ethel Weston and Queenie Gordon, the baby doll of the troupe."

WILL A. Peters writes that he closed a very pleasant sixteen weeks' engagement with the Jack Roseleigh Stock Company, Dec. 22.

Charles Leland, of the Price & Butler Co., spent the lay-off week before Christmas visiting friends in New York City.

GASKILL & MACVITTY NOTES.—"The 'Frisco Flyer," carrying the No. 2 "Shepherd of the Hills" Co. from Tulsa to Vinita, Okla., Saturday, Dec. 7, was struck by an East bound passenger train at a crossing near Foyil, and the smoker and the chair car were badly damaged. Fortunately only a few of the troupe were injured, and none badly enough to lay off. The injured were Jack Sherman, James L. Baber, Martha Urbank and Fred Roth, all from Chicago.

AFTER a successful season of fifty-two weeks, through Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa, Rule's Reel Show closed Dec. 21, and Mr. and Mrs. Rule will spend the holidays with Mrs. Rule's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Plumleigh, at Hartington, Neb. Will re-open Jan. 6, 1913, and work South through Kansas.

THE CAIRNS BROS., seven in number, expect to stage a performance of "In Arizona," at Decatur, Ill., during this Winter. The brothers, besides their histrionic abilities, have a band, each doubling in brass.
